World-Wide Plan To Prevent Sneak Attack, U.S. Aim

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Johnson administration intends to work out a plan for a system of international observation posts that would be set up in Communist and Western countries to guard against the danger of surprise attack.

After consultation with the North Atlantic Treaty Organization Allies on details of the proposed system the plan is expected to be presented at the 17-nation disarmament conference to meet at Geneva Jan. 21.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk told a news conference Friday that despite serious difficulties in the way of agreement with Moscow "there may be some interest on the other side in these observation posts and we think it would be worthwhile . . . to work out a system and see what it looks like."

Rusk said the NATO Allies in a conference at Paris earlier their week were in general agreement that the Western powers should keep trying to find ways of easing tensions between the Soviet bloc and the West.

The Western nations do not feel he said that the limited nuclear test-ban treaty made last summer represents "end of the trail" for East-West accords.

After an hour's meeting with President Johnson at the White House Friday morning Rusk held a news conference at the

6 Pupils Injured As Bus Tips Over

Fifty-four Beaver Local School District children from the Rogers area and their bus driver had an inauspicious Christmas recess beginning Friday afternoon when their loaded bus tipped over in a snowbank as it left the Rogers School, injuring at least six pupils.

Three other county persons received minor injuries in two other traffic mishaps last night. Snow and ice partially contributed to most of the Friday accidents investigated by the Lisbon post of the State Highway Patrol.

The half dozen pupils were injured on the homeward bound bus when at 3:05 p.m., it skidded into a ditch and rolled onto its right side as the bus driver, teacher, Hugh J. Barbour, 30, of MC 22, East Liverpool, pulled from the Rogers School lot. Observers said snow was piled high at the site of the mishap, making driving control difficult.

Injured were:

Larry Riley, 10, bruise on head.

Ruth Riley, 15, sprained back.

Robert Harroff, 7, bruised right arm.

Daniel Harroff, 12, bruised right knee.

Linda McCoy, 16, bruised

Woman Dies Of Traffic Crash Injuries

The July 22 traffic mishap at the intersection of Routes 45 and 344, five miles south of Salem, which instantly killed Mrs. Bonnie Stokes, 18, of RD 3, Salem, has claimed another victim.

Mrs. Georgene L. Frampton, 39, of Damascus died at the Central Clinic at 6:50 a.m. Friday of complications of injuries suffered in the accident.

The victim was a passenger in a car operated by Mrs. Beulah Harvith of 168 W. 8th St. which collided with a car operated by Raymond Stokes, husband of the other victim, who reportedly pulled onto the main highway from the side road.

Born Aug. 23, 1924, in Youngstown, she was the daughter of George and Edna McCandles Bowman, who survive. She lived here one year after coming from Columbiana and was a member of the Way, Truth and Life Tabernacle.

Also surviving are her husband, Norman T. Frampton; four sons, Norman, Jr. of North Jackson, Bruce of Girard; and Roger and Ronald at home; three sisters, Mrs. Beverly Johnson, Mrs. June Evich and Mrs. Janet Hartzell, all of Youngstown; and three brothers, Robert of Youngstown, Jerry of California and James of the Army.

Services will be at 1 p.m. Monday at the Arbaugh-Pearce Funeral Home with Rev. Frank Sparks officiating. Burial will be in Lake Park Cemetery, Youngstown. Friends may call Sunday afternoon and evening at the funeral home.

Man Held In LBJ Threat

Note Found In
Suspect's Pocket

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A self-proclaimed social psychiatrist and avowed member of the Fair Play for Cuba Committee is due for psychiatric tests in the wake of his arrest on a charge of threatening to kill President Johnson.

Robert Beaty Fennell, 29, formerly of Sioux City, Iowa, was charged by the Secret Service Friday after police in nearby Berkeley found a note in his pocket which reportedly concluded:

"My immediate goal: The assassination of President Johnson."

Fennell was found loitering on a Berkeley street corner Thursday night.

Secret Servicemen said the note also stated, "unless Americans accept their political responsibility and abolish the office of LEADER we shall continue to abolish leaders."

Fennell spent nearly four months in a Cherokee, Iowa, mental hospital in 1959, said federal officers. He picked the Sioux City Municipal Auditorium in October in support of racial intermarriage and free travel to Cuba.

Fennell told newsmen at his arraignment today that he was trying to re-enlist in the Air Force as a radar technician. He said he thought the notes were insufficient reason for his arrest.

"I write lots of things — and tear them up."

He was transferred to San Francisco County Jail in lieu of $5,000 bail and a hearing was set for Jan. 3 following the order for psychiatric tests.

Inquiring Reporter

Perhaps a new trend in the attitude toward Christmas will be experienced within the next generation. The seriousness of thought about the holiday, "putting Christ back in Christmas," is evidenced in the answers of 12 Salem fifth grade pupils when they were asked: "What Does Christmas Mean to You?" ## Sears Safe Fails to Budge

Yeggs Drill All
Night; Vault
Stays Shut

What Salem police dubbed a "highly professional" job netted would-be safecrackers at the Sears Roebuck store on S. Broadway Friday night or this morning only hard labor, frustration and a huge pile of borings from the store's much-harassed money vault. The intruders used some of the store's own tools to aid in their attempts.

However, store manager Louis Manieri said a spot inventory must be completed before it is known if the intruders hauled away any merchandise. He theorized the attempt may have been perpetrated by a man who hid in the store until after closing hours.

This is the second attempt within less than a year that the safe has been the target of thieves bent on stealing the contents. In a much less professional attempt, also stymied, yeggs broke into the side of the vault last Jan. 13. A heavy plate has since been welded onto this damaged part.

The newest threat to the safe in a second floor office was discovered this morning at 8:15 when Ed Mathews, assistant Sears manager, went to the upstairs room.

On the floor in front of the safe was an almost two-inch high pile of steel borings made by a one-inch drill. The dial for opening the safe lay on top of this heap. Strewn about were tools borrowed from the store's counters. These included a huge pipe wrench, a wrecking bar, pincher pliers and an ax handle.

With their drill the safecrackers bored eight, neat one-inch holes in an apparent attempt to reach the mechanism that controls the doors. Lying nearby was a piece of hard-rubber tubing, the exact size of the eight holes, and a bent piece of coat hanger which the safecrackers apparently were using to thrust in and out of the holes in an attempt to manipulate gears inside which control the door.

Worked Many Hours

Police estimated the men would have had to bore "most of the night" to accumulate such a pile of drillings.

Manieri said one man must have closeted himself somewhere in the store last night

No Break In Weather Seen

Sub-Zero Readings
Common In Nation

By The Associated Press

The three-month winter season starts Sunday morning but wintry weather — cold snow and strong winds—today continued to plague most of the eastern two-thirds of the nation.

The frigid zone extended from the Rockies to the Atlantic Coast and from the Canadian border to near the Gulf Coast. Sub-zero cold stung most of the Midwest and sections of the northeast.

Weather Bureau officials said there appeared no major relief immediately from the siege of unseasonable low temperatures during the last 10 days of autumn.

The season's longest spell of cold and snowy weather was blamed for at least 30 deaths. The core of the cold air was centered in the eastern Dakotas areas fed by a huge mass of arctic air in Canada. The mercury dropped to -26 today in Grand Forks, N.D. -24 in Fargo N.D. and -23 in Huron S.D. High readings Friday in sections of the Dakotas ranged from 10 to 20 degrees below zero.

Upstate New York also reported sub-zero readings including -19 in Watertown after earlier dropping to 26 below; -8 in Massena -7 in Utica -6 in Albany and Glens Falls and zero in Syracuse Rochester and

House, Senate At Odds On Grain Rider

WASHINGTON (AP)—A new compromise on credit restrictions for proposed sales to Communist nations was reached today by Senate-House conferees anxious to push through a $3 billion foreign aid bill and adjourn Congress.

The conferees took only 10 minutes to make minor changes in the rider which snagged adjournment plans at dawn after an all-night session.

Rep. Otto Passman, D-La., floor manager for the controversial bill, said he would carry this back to the House for a second test shortly after noon.

Involved is use of the government's Export-Import Bank to finance proposed sales of U.S. wheat to Soviet Russia.

House Voted For Ban

The House voted for an arbitrary ban on government credit for any Communist deals after the Senate twice rejected such proposals.

The new compromise would permit President Johnson to approve such sales if he found this in "the national interest" and reported each deal to Congress within 30 days.

This differed only slightly from a similar proposal defeated early today in the House by a vote of 141 to 136. The new plan puts a time limit on the presidential reports. It also would send them to the House and Senate rather than the Appropriations and Foreign Relations committees, as the earlier compromise had provided.

Passman refused to predict whether the House would accept this new version but it was known that Democratic leaders in both House and Senate had been calling on holiday-bound absent members to return.

Will Support Compromise

Passman told newsmen that he would support the new compromise even though he detested the idea of voting $3 billion to defeat communism and then permitting use of government funds to aid communism.

Sen. John O. Pastore, D-R.I., spokesman for the Senate conferees, emerged smiling and confident. He said the House had suggested the minor change in the original provision.

In rejecting the earlier compromise, the House voted to

Man Freed After 64 Years In Prison

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Richard Honeck, 84, had his first real look at life outside prison walls today after 64 years spent in Illinois penitentiaries.

The sprightly old man took a tour of San Francisco, which he said "I'm told is one of the most beautiful cities in the world. Just think, I'll be spending the rest of my days here."

Prison authorities believe Honeck just finished serving the longest sentence of any man alive in the United States. He was released Friday first into the custody of an Associated Press reporter, and then turned over to a niece, 62-year-old Mrs. Clara Orth of nearby San Leandro, Calif.

He walked out the gates of Menard Penitentiary, an old brownstone prison near Chester, Ill., on the Mississippi River shortly after noon (CST).

A few hours later he was greeted at San Francisco's International Airport by his beaming niece.

They embraced, kissed and she said, "This will be the happiest Christmas I've ever had and I'm sure it will be for Uncle Richard, too." He grinned and nodded agreement.

His first hours out of prison were spent in a bewildering series of press conferences, automobile trips and finally a ride from St. Louis to San Francisco on a jet airliner.

And, the old man was visibly amazed at the progress that had passed him by while he sat behind prison bars.

During the car trip from Chester to St. Louis, Honeck said, "Why, we must be going 35 miles an hour." The driver, Warden Ross Randolph, answered, "Actually, Richard, we're going 65."

Later, on the jet, Honeck remarked, "I traveled faster in that car today than I ever had in my life and now we're going almost 10 times that fast—and six miles up in the air, too."

Honeck went to prison for murdering a former school teacher four years before the first airplane was flown. Before Friday, the only planes he had ever seen were those that flew above Illinois prisons.

"I remember the first one I

Church Services To Proclaim Christ's Birth

Sunday, Christmas Eve Programs Set

"For unto you is born this day, in the city of David, a Savior..."

Church bells will peal out in Salem and the beloved Biblical message almost 2,000 years old will be retold in special Christmas services across the community on Sunday and Christmas Eve.

Religious leaders will recall in Scripture the travel of Mary and Joseph, the birth of the Christ Child in a lowly stable, the visit of the Wise Men, Angels and Shepherds and all of the other wondrous happenings in Bethlehem.

Choirs will sing joyous anthems or beautiful masses in celebration of the holy occasion. Congregations will lift their voices to the triumphant strains of "Joy to the World" or softly sing "Silent Night."

Candlelight settings also will lend their enchantment to the wondrous commemorative event as men, women and children put aside not only their everyday concerns but the more immediate interest in tree-trimming and package-wrapping and go to find once again the holy meaning of Christmas, in special services held by local churches.

Catholic churches will proclaim the birth of the King of Christendom by solemn midnight masses. To commemorate the Nativity, Protestant churches will hold candlelight and communion services and children's programs.

The custom of saying mass at midnight derives from an old belief that Christ was born at that hour. Actually, mass may be said at any hour during the night before Christmas, and in some countries the first Christmas mass is said at four or five in the morning.

According to early Roman regulations, Christmas mass was celebrated "when the cock crows" — about three o'clock in the morning. Spanish-speaking people still call midnight mass "Misa de Gallo," while the Portuguese term is "Missa do Galo" — in both cases, "mass of the cock."

Candlelight services held in Protestant churches symbolize Christ as the light of the world, and the shining beams of the candles call to mind the Star that shone to guide the Wise Men.

Exemplifying the spiritual side of Christmas are programs which include special sermons, reading the Christmas story, prayers, carols and the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper.

the service and Richard Kaiser will present the scripture quotations.

First Friends Chorale

A Christmas cantata, "Born a King," will be presented at 7:30 p.m. Sunday by members of the Senior Choir of the First Friends Church at the church. The music will be directed by Robert Grams with Paul Roher as narrator. Mrs. Lloyd Kibler will be organist and Mrs. Henry Wolfgang, pianist.

The cantata will open with a selection by the choir, "Born a King," with solo by Milford Landwert and the Ladies Chorus following with "Star of Promise."

The rest of the program will be as follows: "And She Shall Bring Forth a Son," Ladies Chorus, with solo by Robert Ellyson; "Behold a Virgin," solo by Mr. Landwert; "For Unto Us a Child is Born," choir; "Born a King but O how Lowly," choir with Mrs. Andrew Kaloci, soloist; "Glory to God," Ladies Chorus and duet by Mrs. Harold Winn and Mr. Landwert; "Let us Go to Bethlehem," Men's Chorus and choir.

When you're waiting for someone you have called, to answer the telephone, a minute might seem longer than 60 seconds. But when you are trying to get to a ringing telephone from outdoors or from another room, seconds fly. When you make a call, give the party plenty of time to answer before hanging up. Usually, about 10 RINGS (a minute) is sufficient. It may save you another call. Our observations show that people generally hang up after 5 rings (30 seconds).

And when you are called, won't you please answer promptly? Folks think we are giving better service when you do—and anyhow, the party who is calling you will be happier if you respond promptly. Can you get from any part of your house to the nearest telephone in 30 seconds? If not, order one or more extensions.

COLUMBIANA — Named to the state honorable mention list for achievement on the general scholarship test for high school seniors was Kenneth Huk, who scored 719, or second in the county, ranking in the 99th percentile in the state. Thomas Bookwalter tied for fifth place with a score of 657 and Glen Churchfield tied for eighth place with 647.

Other Columbiana students appearing on the honorable mention lists, in numerical order, were: Linda Swanson, James Hawkins, Rick Perrin, Betty Bevan, Duane Spiker, David Scott, Brian Arbuckle, Grace Clark, Paul Brower, Joe Wojtecki, David Goist, Christine Brown, Ina Grins and Caroline Wilms.

English, history, mathematics, science, reading and vocabulary are the subjects included in the general Scholarship Test.

SALEM CITY Hospitals Auxiliary of Columbiana met for its annual Christmas party in the form of a coverdish dinner Monday at Grace United Church of Christ with 27 members attending. The club observed its 10th anniversary with a Christmas program, followed by a gift exchange.

MRS. ROY GUY, aided by club officers, presented the Christmas program at the Columbiana Business and Professional Women's Club dinner party Tuesday, at Grace United Church. Mrs. Guy gave a reading entitled "Night Before Christmas."

Decorations, which were in charge of Mrs. Arthur Spotholt and Mrs. Guy, included snowmen, pine sprays and ceramic deer used as place settings.

Personal development chairman, Miss Cathryn Eissenwein, introduced Mrs. Herbert Artman, who previewed "Home Away From Home," title of next month's program. A gift exchange concluded the evening.

MEMBERS OF the Fifth Wheel Club met at the home of Mrs. Donald Leonard of Stanton Ave. for their Christmas party Tuesday with Mrs. Harry Parker assisting. Prizes were awarded to Mrs. Robert Edwards, Mrs. Lawrence White and Mrs. William Eversole. Mrs. Florence Campbell accompanied the group to the singing of Christmas carols. A gift exchange followed. In charge of refreshments was Mrs. John Dailey. Next meeting will

Police Peace Conference Needed

All too often in the wake of important police action in this country, a spatter of rancor spots the record.

The latest spatter has occurred in the wake of the Sinatra kidnaping, with Los Angeles Police Chief William H. Parker pointing out that the Federal Bureau of Investigation worked on a case in his jurisdiction without letting his department participate.

Before this, there had been evidence of misgivings about the handling of the Kennedy assassination investigation, with the FBI, the Dallas police, Texas authorities and the Secret Service sidestepping around one another warily.

THE WHOLE country was shocked in that instance when it learned that assassinating a president of the United States cannot even be dealt with as a federal crime; there is no federal law against it. And that means under the circumstances that the federal government has no clear legal right to be in the picture at all.

To all intents and purposes, the atrocity in Dallas was an affair for the same local officials in Texas hats who set up their prisoner and prime suspect for a fatal assault by one of their local acquaintances. Kidnaping, of course, is a federal crime. The FBI has a clear right to investigate a kidnaping. But whenever its investigation enters a jealously guarded police jurisdiction there are recriminations.

IS IT TOO much to ask that a national police conference be held to thresh out the problem of inter-relationships, with a view to letting the rest of us know where we stand with the police protection we gladly pay for and would like to receive without evidence of jealousy and friction?

Christmas Decorations

This is about a problem of our life and times — one of the minor problems, we admit.

It concerns Christmas lighting.

How does an auto driver take in this high spot of the Christmas season without risking life and limb—his own and others?

Christmas lighting in this era of urban sprawl must be seen by admirers from passing cars or it will be seen by no one, except neighbors.

There are no pedestrians any more. Even the postman is on wheels, and he is safe at home before the lights are turned on for the great Christmas extravaganza. A lone motorist passing by can take in only what he sees at a glance. If he is traveling a regular route home, he can concentrate one night on the passing scene to his right and the next night to the left. But this is not the way to admire the effect of Christmas lighting.

There needs to be time to look.

For those of us who must admire while passing, there is no real solution to the problem. We can't stop; we'd never get home. But if we weave from one side to another, may all other drivers forgive us. We're taking in what has become the most eye-popping sight of our electrified age. They probably are weaving too.

Recognition

Congratulations are due Bryce Kendall upon his selection as district governor of the Rotary club eight-county region.

The Salem lawyer, who does not take office officially until next July 1, is the first member of the local club to be so honored, although many Salem Rotarians have been long active in community and civic programs.

Bryce, who is also a member of the Salem school board, is dedicated to Rotary's precepts of "service above self" and, coupled with his youthful energy, will no doubt excel in his new role as head of the 37 clubs which comprise District 665 in northeastern Ohio.

Wrap It Up

Don't think this is a plug for a product. It is.

The catch is that the product isn't on the market yet.

The market is there, but no one is doing anything about it. Opportunity is still knocking.

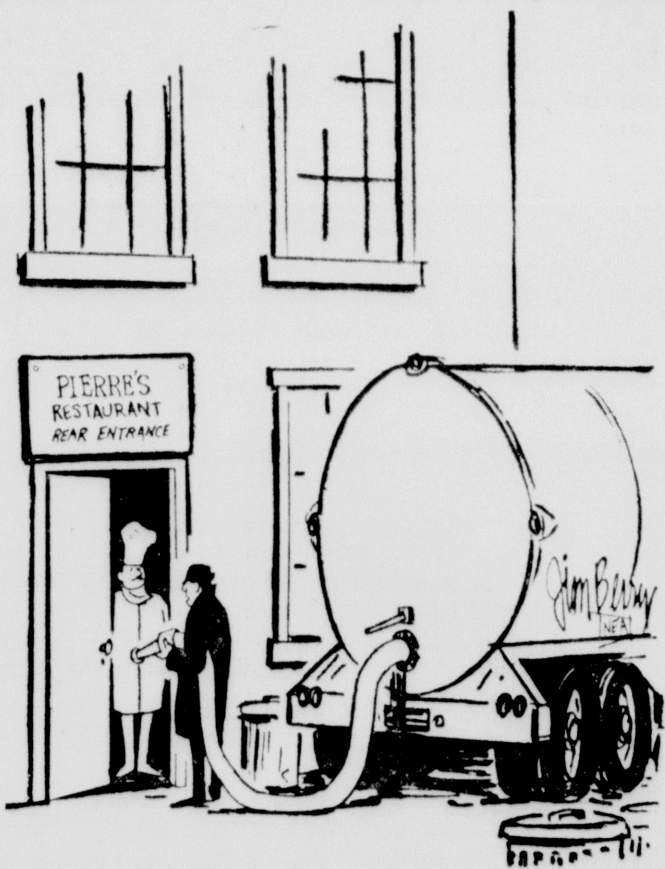

A better way to wrap Christmas presents is what the men of the world are waiting for. Women don't have any trouble in this regard. They could wrap up a cat in tissue paper.

But men are baffled if they must wrap a gift box—something a woman could do in three deft motions and a lick of spit.

This is the market—gift wrapping for 10-thumbed men who want to give their Christmas junk a personal touch but hesitate for fear of making the package look like something left behind by the Russian army.

SOMEBODY came out a few years ago with colored bags into which you popped the Christmas present and pulled the puckering string—presto!

The prospectus sounded good, but here is one fumblebump who never saw one of the bags. Meanwhile, there has been this annual ordeal of tearable paper, unmanageable string and baggy results—and there are men worse off than one who once worked in a clothing store wrapping furtive objects like hard collars, which men used to buy detached from their shirts. . . the collars, that is.

"Hey, buddy . . . want to buy some 'hot' salad oil?"

"My Tailor? His Name Is Johnson!"

Johnson's Labor Headache

By VICTOR RIESEL

Watch for the national labor leaders to rally around the "walking wounded" of the battle of the budget.

Those "wounded" are the thousands being laid off during the phasing out of Pentagon installations and "blue sky" weapons.

Labor leaders don't like it. They plan to say so. When they do, President Johnson will have the first sour moments of his honeymoon with labor.

It may not yet have gotten to the White House but there's grumbling within labor's sanctums. Union chiefs are saying dourly that the President is "too budget conscious." They say he "talks of a 75 million job goal and then proceeds to cut out jobs."

In the last few days, military cutbacks have affected some 20,000 jobs of union members. Some of them will be quickly re-employed. Some won't.

Typical of those the labor leaders now call the "walking wounded" are the 5,000 who will lose their jobs at Boeing in Seattle where the Dyna-Soar space warship experimentation has been wiped out.

"If a weapon is obsolete or impractical," one highly placed labor man told this columnist the other day, "we don't want to continue its production as a make-work WPA project. But we do want orders to replace the old contract—or we want a national pool created out of which our people can draw severance pay to tide them over."

THIS MONEY would have to come from the government—directly or indirectly—and would run into millions of dollars. This is not likely to spark any enthusiasm in Lyndon Johnson at this moment of the "big pruning."

There likely isn't to be any outcry over the "wounded" until after President Johnson's State of the Union speech on Jan. 8, 1964. Word inside the White House is that this talk will be blunt, definitive and all-inclusive, as well as inclusive.

Mr. Johnson's aides have been working on drafts of such matters as jobs, automation and labor-management relations so that a distinct White House policy can be reflected in his speech.

Labor leaders will be listening for specific Johnson policy. During their recent private conversations with the President, they have gotten no such definite assurance. They have been assured of the continuance of John Kennedy's labor policy. But after Jan. 8 the union chiefs will want to know how the President stands on the 35-hour week at 40 hours' pay, on "medicare" and on intervention in labor-management conflicts, of which there are some tough ones ahead.

In February, for example, between the 11th and the end of the month, the country faces air and rail strikes. The union officials want to know if the President will go to Congress for laws preventing such stoppages.

IN MID-FEAR will come what is bound to be a dramatic showdown between Walter Reuther's auto union and the Big Three car manufacturers. A few months later the longshoremen may walk off docks in a battle over automation.

There are less dramatic battles coming but they are even more meaningful. Most businessmen, for example, now view the National Labor Relations Board as the "five horsemen" of an industrial Apocalypse. Many in the business community say the powerful board is brutalizing them.

They want Mr. Johnson to see to it that the board—which has far more than the power to simply decide what is an unfair labor practice—becomes "less aligned with labor."

The unionists, however, claim that the board has not gone far enough in their direction. Some of labor's top leaders and braintrusts had a series of off-the-record sessions with board officials earlier this year to tell the latter how they feel. Soon the White House will be in the middle of this conflict.

Don't underestimate the importance of this issue. An NLRB decision can affect the future of a company and the membership of entire local unions.

NO ONE YET knows what President Johnson plans on this front. He has asked Secretary of Labor Willard Wirtz to stay in the Cabinet for the duration. Mr. Wirtz has agreed. Generally, his policy is to attempt to keep the White House out of labor crises. This was difficult under John Kennedy.

There also is Justice Arthur Goldberg, an old friend of the President—so close that the justice and Mrs. Goldberg were among the first guests asked to the Spring Valley home for a small dinner party shortly after Johnson became President.

The President will need all the talent he can get on this front. There is no doubt he will have many a labor headache as soon as the presidency gets back to business as usual.

President's Guard

By DAVID LAWRENCE
Many people are puzzled by the terms FBI and Secret Service, and there is a tendency to assume that both agencies are protecting the life of the president and members of his family. Actually, this duty is imposed by law only on the Secret Service, which is a division of the Treasury Department. The Federal Bureau of Investigation, a division of the Department of Justice, has no statutory responsibilities relating to the protection of the president.

The Secret Service has only about 400 agents, and they have two primary responsibilities—protection of the president, the vice president and their families, and the detection of counterfeiting of coins or currency.

Lee Harvey Oswald, who, it was charged, assassinated President Kennedy, never at any time gave the slightest inkling that he intended to commit any act of violence. All through his life he had been considered a avoided normal activities with friends. This tendency toward solitude was manifested even when he was in service in the Marine Corps.

Of the many people who have been contacted by newsmen and about Oswald, all the informants agree that he was an odd person and encouraged very few to seek him out. The record shows recommendations for psychiatric treatment when he was as young as 13 years of age. He never, however, earned a reputation as being a vicious person.

THERE WAS NOT the slightest evidence in the records of either the Secret Service or the FBI to indicate that Oswald was likely to be engaged in any violence. Certainly no one had ever heard him make any threats against the late President.

It has been suggested recently that a person with Oswald's record might have been watched on this occasion, because he had once gone to Russia and renounced his citizenship. It's also a fact, however, that he came back to America and was helped by the United States Embassy to make the return trip. There was no evidence that he was a person likely to engage in violence.

There are many Communists or persons of Communist sympathy in the United States who have publicly expressed views similar to Oswald's.

Some even have defected, either in the Korean War or under other circumstances, but subsequently have returned to their native land. Unless such an individual gives some sign of having become violent, or threatens somebody with violence, there is no inclination to single him out and put him under constant guard.

The FBI has estimated it gets at least 500 letters a week which it puts in the "crackpot" class. Each if read and evaluated, however, and appropriate action taken where it is necessary. No letters implicating Oswald ever were received.

MANY STATEMENTS have been made to the effect that the FBI and the Secret Service have not cooperated with each other and that hard feelings exist between the agencies. This is denounced as false by persons inside both agencies.

Thus, the chief of the Secret Service, James J. Rowley, is a former special agent of the FBI and a close personal friend of the present director, J. Edgar Hoover. Mr. Rowley also is a lecturer at the FBI National Academy, which is a training school for local law-enforcement officers.

Cooperation between the two agencies is carried on day after day in personal liaison contacts and the unequivocal statement is made by FBI officials that if, in the course of their investigations, any information which comes within the jurisdiction of the Secret Service is developed, it's immediately transmitted to the appropriate Secret Service office.

During President Kennedy's administration, it was argued by some of the television cameramen that they could not get a good view of the President in a parade if he was too closely surrounded by Secret Service men. In the Dallas motorcade, the Secret Service men were not placed around the President as closely as they have been on other occasions.

THERE WERE agents not only in the car with the President and Vice President but in other cars immediately behind each automobile, all watching the crowd carefully for any threatening gesture.

So the all-important problem of how to protect the life of the President of the United States is not going to be solved by blaming either the FBI or the Secret Service or both.

Secret Service agents are, after all, obliged to carry out the wishes of the President himself. If he decides to ignore their warnings and ride in an open automobile, or to select a parade route which is against their advice, these facts are never made public, but the result can be tragic.

The main dilemma relates to the policing of the high buildings along streets through which a procession might be passing. If the Secret Service and the FBI were required to post guards in every building, or if they were obliged to investigate the record of every employee on every floor in every building along the parade route, there would not be enough personnel in either the Secret Service or the FBI or the two agencies combined to do the job. Certainly they couldn't act on four days' notice.

There does not seem at present any sure way to prevent an attack on the President's life except by insisting that he ride in a bullet-proof automobile.

THE RUTH MATHER Circle of the First Baptist Church met at the home of Mrs. George Baillie, Sr., on the Damascus Rd. Tuesday afternoon.

The hostess served dessert before the meeting.

During the business session, Mrs. George Baillie Jr. presided and the group planned fruit baskets for shut-ins of the church for Christmas gifts.

Mrs. M. P. Livingston, program chairman, read a poem, "Free Gifts," composed by Mrs. Joseph Barnes. Mrs. Baillie Sr. and her daughter-in-law took turns reading a Christmas story. Mrs. Robert Hammel played the piano for group singing of carols.

The next meeting of the group will be held Jan. 21 at the home of Mrs. Walter Albaugh, 1281 Maple St.

MR. AND MRS. J. H. Lease of Dana Point, Calif., are visiting his sisters, Mrs. Elizabeth O'Neil of W. 10th St., Mrs. Frances Edwidge of N. Lincoln Ave., and Miss Dorothy Lease of Alliance.

CANDY CANES WERE favored when members of the Latecomers Club met Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. Joseph Anderson of Barclay St., for a Christmas party and gift exchange. Mrs. William Zocolo was a guest.

Mrs. Herbert Hasen, Mrs. Frank Codo and Mrs. Albert Falk were winners of prizes at "500."

Mrs. Falk and Mrs. Paul Mandalin assisted the hostess with serving refreshments.

WCTU Recalls Crusades

Temperance Movement Started 90 Years Ago

By PEARL WALKER

In recognition of the 90th anniversary of the Woman's Temperance Crusades, the National Woman's Christian Temperance Union has designated Monday Crusade Day. The Crusades were a forerunner of the WCTU. Crusade prayer meetings and other temperance activities over the nation will mark the day. Members of the Salem Union are asked to pause to pray for the temperance cause at 7:30 p.m., wherever they are.

THE CRUSADES STARTED in Fredonia, N. Y., and Hillsboro, O., in December, 1873, the temperance flame having been sparked by Dr. Dio Lewis of Boston, following his lectures in these towns.

Speaking in the Hillsboro Presbyterian Church Dec. 23, 1873, Dr. Lewis inspired the women to inaugurate a program of personal visitation of Hillsboro saloons. Some 50 women volunteered that night for service. Mrs. Eliza J. Thompson, daughter of an Ohio governor and wife of Judge Thompson, was chosen leader.

Through the efforts of these women the drinking places in Hillsboro were reduced from 13 to one drug store, one hotel, and two saloons, "which sold very cautiously." Records reveal that 108 towns and cities in Ohio participated in this movement—more than in any other state in the nation. For this reason, the name and fame of Ohio as the "Crusade State" has gone over the world. This spiritual movement swept like a prairie fire into 23 states. As a result, 10,000 liquor-selling places were closed within a few months, the historian reports.

YEARS BEFORE the Crusades, Salem pioneers were pro-motors of the temperance cause. As early as 1843 total abstinence societies began to spring up. Among these were the Salem Washington Total Abstinence Society and the Salem Juvenile Total Abstinence Society.

Prominent men and women were active in the movement. Meetings were held in the churches and also on the streets. Among the speakers were Dr. Benjamin Stanton, Salem's first physician; Isaac Tresscott, one of the city's merchants; Lewis T. Park, Margaret Walton, Susan Campbell and Butler Deming.

Jonas D. Cattell, believed to have been the first Salem man to gain a seat in the Ohio Senate, was sent to Columbus by the temperance people of Salem in February of 1882, to place in the hands of the legislators petitions in favor of the passage of a law similar to the Maine liquor law.

ONE HUNDRED YEARS ago, in the spring of 1863, there was a temperance organization in Salem under the name of Pure Fountain Division No. 274, Sons of Temperance. This society held an active existence continuously through to 1879. Among the active members were M. L. Edwards, A. R. Silver, James Leach and Joshua Leaf. Florence Eastman and Anna Garwood were included on its official roster.

Salem had six attorneys in 1856 and not one of them would defend a liquor dealer charged with violating the liquor laws. On the evening of Nov. 24, 1882, women from five Salem churches—Methodist, Baptist, Friends, Presbyterian and Christian, met in the First Friends Church and organized the Salem Woman's Christian Temperance Union.

This was the city's first woman's civic organization. Mrs. John Wetmore was president.

IN THE EARLY DAYS the women promoted civic interests similar to those of the Red Cross. They had a sewing project and made hundreds of garments for needy families, holiday dinners were provided, the sick was visited and bouquets of flowers were distributed, according to records.

Currently, the educational program carried on by the WCTU covers 22 fields. The local union includes a part of these in its activities. In recognition of its 81st anniversary, 1,000 lead pencils were placed in the Salem Junior High last September. On the pencils is the slogan, "Drinking Prevents Thinking."

HELEN HAYES AND PRESIDENTS

NEW YORK (AP) — Helen Hayes plans "The White House Story" as her next Broadway showcase.

The program, being written by A. E. Hotchner, concerns events in the lives of American Presidents and their families from George Washington to Theodore Roosevelt.

Three men, yet to be chosen, will complete the cast with Miss Hayes, and production is slated for premiere in May.

LIVE PLUS FILM

NEW YORK (AP) — A theatrical process developed in Czechoslovakia that combines movies and on-stage action is to be displayed on Broadway in February. Offenbach's "Tales of Hoffman" will be the attraction.

Called Laterna Magika, the process aims at novel effects in light, color and sound. An earlier version of the technique was demonstrated at the 1958 World Fair in Brussels.

Young Moderns

There's No Place Just Like Home

By VIVIAN BROWN

Young girls can't wait to shed their cocoons and get away from the family. But they shouldn't be hasty about it if they have strong family ties, advises pretty blonde, doll-like Joey Heatherton, 19, who just has begun a movie career.

Joey is happy with her mother, father and brother living in Rockville Center, Long Island, where she has a fish pond, rather than a posh swimming pool that is de rigueur on the West Coast. She has had only a sample of being away from her family, and even then her mother was with her.

"IT ISN'T what you'd think at all, living away from home. Our family is very close and since I'm not one for cooking or answering alarm clocks on the first ring, I depend on mother. She wakes me and takes care of me and I love it," Joey admits.

In Hollywood recently making her first movie with Richard Chamberlain and Nick Adams, "Twilight of Honor," both Joey and her mother were homesick.

"We missed family fun and I had to celebrate my birthday out there. It wasn't because we were there four months. When I got back home I had to make a one-day trip to Pittsburgh and I couldn't wait to get back home.

IT WAS Richard Rodgers who gave Joey her first stage part in "Sound of Music" with Mary Martin. She first was an understudy, later played the ingenue.

Rodgers also convinced her parents who had insisted she must go to college that she could do both. So she attends Hofstra College by correspondence, and "I can get credits as long as I do my work," she explains.

Joey's mother has already told her and her brother, though, that they are going to be on their own at 21.

"I TELL MOM, that's okay with me, but that she'll have to hold off until I marry a rich man who can get me a cook and lots of other help to take her place," laughs Joey.

The entire family is musical. Joey's brother has cut several records. Her mother and father, Devanie and Ray Heatherton are well known in show business.

El Salvador Beckons Salem Couple

James Paulino's Leave Next Week For New Home

By CAROL CROFT
El Salvador may seem like a remote land to be read about in travel books to most people. But to Jim and Carole Paulino, it will be home within the next month.
The Paulinos and their two-year-old son, Jimmy, will leave shortly after Christmas to make their permanent residence in San Salvador after living in Salem for two and one-half years.
When Jim took a position in July with the Sherwin-Williams Paint Company Export Division of Newark, N.J., he was hoping that eventually a break would come whereby he and the family would be able to travel and see different parts of the world.
His chance came just one day later when he was asked to take the position of sales manager of the entire Central America area for three paint companies—Martin Senour, Acme and Lucas. The decision was made immediately in the affirmative.

"HERE'S WHERE WE'LL LIVE!" — Jim and Carole Paulino, formerly of 1824 N. Ellsworth Ave., show their two-year-old son, Jimmie, the location of El Salvador as they study a map of Central America. The family will reside in San Salvador.

OF ALL THE Central American countries, Jim describes El Salvador as the most stable economically during the past critical half-century. Its ideal climate averages 75 degrees annually. Although the country is located in the tropical zone, its situation on a plateau at 2,200 feet keeps it from having tropical characteristics.
After the decision to move, Carol says that there was "one big problem every week." Part of the complications included getting papers in order for residence, obtaining passports, vaccinations and inoculations and deciding exactly what would be needed for such a large transfer of location.
Actually, most of the real transferral of articles will be done by the moving company and the most difficult part of the venture, perhaps, has been the waiting and anticipation.

The couple were scheduled to have the furnishings removed from their home at 1824 N. Ellsworth Ave. late this week. will visit relatives in Cleveland from now until Dec. 26, they Heights, her home, and Ashtabula, his home. As plans stand now, they will fly to Central America the day after Christmas, when their furnishings are scheduled to arrive there.
HAPPILY LOOKING FORWARD to their life in El Salvador, the Paulinos won't be complete strangers there. A college friend of Jim at Kent State University where he received a bachelor's degree in foreign trade, was a native of the country and still lives there, and the two have kept in close touch through correspondence.

Besides that, the couple share the adventurous spirit of traveling to new and different places and seeing foreign lands. Jim was in Germany for 18 months, where his interest in foreign trade actually took root. Carole, also a Kent graduate, has traveled extensively through the US and has also been to Mexico.
They lived in Arizona while he attended the American Institute for Foreign Trade at Phoenix.

ONE PROBLEM that Carol foresees is the language barrier. She doesn't speak Spanish which will probably offer interesting experiences at first—but she expects to learn rapidly.
Although El Salvador may seem like thousands of miles away, perhaps because it is outside the United States, it is actually no farther than a trip to San Diego or Los Angeles by plane. The couple will be able to come home in two years for a vacation and hope that their friends and relatives find it convenient to plan a vacation with them before too long.

Don't Take It Lying Down

If You're Growing Old ... Fight It!

By RAY CROMEY
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
WASHINGTON — Dr. James E. Birren, after 16 years of intensely studying old people, is convinced that a healthy man in his 70s can often hold his own or beat a young man in his 20s or 30s in keen thinking in a considerable number of fields. He also found that "fighting the aging process" is a good way to head off depression.
Dr. Birren, 45, doesn't agree with psychologists who contend a man's brain declines 1 per cent a year after the age 30. A kindly-faced researcher, Birren is chief of the section on aging of the National Institute of Mental Health.

UNLOCKING THE SECRETS OF AGING: Dr. Birren and assistant at work at electronic machine which measures reaction time.

STUDIES OF ELDERLY people are in their infancy, but he and a team of scientists have made a survey of 47 healthy men aged 65 to 91. They have investigated mental outlook, senility, vigor and imaginativeness of thinking.
What Dr. Birren and his co-workers found cannot be listed yet as facts, only possibilities. But the possibilities are awesome in what they suggest.
He saw, for example, the keenness of an older grow considerably sharper in the years between 72 and 77. He saw indications that men in their 70s do not necessarily have a poorer memory, poorer emotional responsiveness or less ability to understand or to pay attention than men in their 20s or 30s.

He said that "with the promise of medical advances in the control of the now common metabolic diseases of later life, more individuals will be seen who are old in years but functionally young by present standards."
Compared with the prevailing medical and psychiatric view of the aged, these men as a whole were found to be "vigorous, candid, interesting and deeply involved in everyday living."
In marked contradiction to the usual ideas of rigidity and of second childhood, these individuals generally demonstrated mental flexibility and alertness. They continued to be constructive in their living; they were resourceful and optimistic.
The group was not uniform, however. Some individuals showed maladaptive patterns of withdrawal and depression. Some showed evidence of mental decline.
Dr. Birren and his group found that diseases and infections, some so minor that they are not noticed by the person himself, seemingly can cause mental decline in older people.

Said Dr. Birren: "The main causes of mental decline among the older people tested seemed to be not from age but resulting rather from decreases in cerebral blood flow and oxygen consumption which were not the result of aging as such but rather of arteriosclerosis."
He said that "with the promise of medical advances in the control of the now common metabolic diseases of later life, more individuals will be seen who are old in years but functionally young by present standards."

to demonstrate his youthfulness, to be a useful reparative measure against depression."
Dr. Birren said that these "denials of aging" or this rebellion against aging "was found to be better off."

Gourmet Party Salad Easy to Fix

A party luncheon fancy but easy-to-prepare is the hostess' dream. The clue, of course, is to choose a menu with most of the preparation done in advance. The answer to the dream is Gourmet Party Salad.
Chunky crab meat salad is prepared ahead along with the marinated canned kidney beans and deviled egg quarters. Then shortly before guests arrive arrange the salad plate.
GOURMET PARTY SALAD
2 CANS (1 lb. each) red kidney beans, 2 cups sliced celery, 1/2 cup bottled Italian dressing, 3 cup mayonnaise, 2 teaspoons lemon juice, 2 cans (5 to 7 oz. each) crab meat, 1 can or jar (4 oz.) pimientos, Crisp salad greens, Deviled egg quarters, Drain kidney beans. Add celery and Italian dressing; mix lightly. Chill 1 to 2 hours. Mix mayonnaise and lemon juice.
Add crab meat broken into chunks and pimientos cut in pieces; mix lightly and chill. At serving time cover large crisp greens.

Arrange kidney beans in circle around edge and mound crab meat in the center. Garnish with deviled egg quarters. Six servings.
ANNIVERSARY SCHEDULE
STRATFORD, Conn. (AP) — The American Shakespeare Festival will celebrate its 10th season and the 400th anniversary of the bard's birth next summer with "Hamlet," "Much Ado About Nothing" and "Richard III."
Two of the plays will be performed for student audiences for nine weeks prior to start of the season for the general public. Joseph Verner Reed, festival producer, said a fourth production, yet to be selected, may be a non-Shakespearean work. Shaw's "Caesar and Cleopatra" was done last summer, the first time the company offered a work by another playwright.

Romance In White House?

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON
AP Newsfeatures Writer
Since there is a switchboard at the White House, it will be possible to get phone calls through to the President of the United States, even though he does have two lively teen-age daughters.
Six-year-old Caroline who lived there before the death of her beloved Daddy, President John F. Kennedy, was too young for telephoning, hep talk, and beau.

But these conditions of adolescence are sure to move into the historic Pennsylvania Avenue residence along with the high-spirited daughters of President Lyndon Johnson, Lynda Bird, 19, and Lucy Baines, 16. Thus the hallowed halls are certain to echo with merriment and youthful exuberance.
YET, IN THEIR NEW roles as "First Family," the two girls will leave behind them much of the freedom they enjoyed in Les Ormes, the huge mansion formerly owned by Washington's famed hostess, Perle Mesta.

Secret Service men never accompanied them on their dates although Lynda Bird has joked that, "Daddy sometimes threatens to send one along."
Now "Daddy" has no choice. The ubiquitous secret service will be a discreet but short distance away when Lynda's fiancé, Ens. Bernard Rosebach comes to call, or when any young swain makes his way to the White House door to pay court to her sister, Madonna-like Lucy Baines.
Because she has never been sure of the sincerity of Washington suitors, Lynda Bird has preferred to date Texas lads, and eventually agreed to marry one. Rosebach is from Comfort, Texas, and Lynda now attends the University of Texas.
A year and a half ago the older girl complained that young men whom she did not know asked her for dates only because they thought it would be quite a social coup to go out with the Vice Presidents daughter. "I don't want to be a parasite on my father's name," she sighed.

WITH HER FATHER, in the White House, dates with Lucy Baines, will be even more prestigious among the Capitol's young eligibles, and she shares her sister's eagerness to be liked for herself alone.
After Margaret Truman left the White House, she wrote that her opportunities for romance were often thwarted by the long shadows of the secret service and her own suspicions of sincerity. Now the wife of York Times executive Clifton Daniels, Miss Truman was born to career politician Harry Truman who, like the Johnson girls' father, inherited the Presidency in the wake of a national tragedy—in this instance the death of Franklin Delano Roosevelt.
However, until she became interested in the performing arts, Margaret, an only child born late in her parents' life, tended to be shy of the public like her diffident mother, Bess Truman.

LUCY BAINES JOHNSON

astute father and a mother who is also a highly skilled campaigner and an excellent business woman.
In interviews the young ladies are self-assured, forthright, enthusiastic and typical of all American teen-agers. Lynda is likely to interrupt a telephone interview with an admonition to her younger sister "Get off the extension, please. I'm using this." Lucy, like many teen-agers, loves the phone.
Mrs. Johnson tries not to let the girls believe they are important because their father is a public figure.
To the contrary, the sisters once decried they are "deprived children" because they so seldom see their peripatetic parents. Almost in the same breath they forgive them for their busy-ness.
"ALTHOUGH WE DON'T always have physical togetherness, we have moral togetherness," Lynda Bird once analyzed their family relationship. "Lucy and I know, whether Mother is with us or not, she's thinking about us. And sometimes when she's away, I go into her room and smell her perfume and feel her presence."
Until they came to Washington the daughters lived in shirts, shorts and loafers, comfortable and appropriate to the casual life on the famed 400-acre LBJ ranch where many international dignitaries have barbecued beef steaks under the sprawling trees.
When their father became Vice President of the United States, both went shopping for long dinner gowns and cocktail dresses suitably modest and unsophisticated for adolescents who do not drink cocktails. Being the eldest, and the nation's most prominent teen-ager Lynda Bird has often been called upon to preside at youthful social functions.

A small country school in Johnson City, Tex., served their educational needs while growing up in their home state. In Washington Lucy Baines still attends the National Cathedral School, an Episcopal private school which her sister also attended before enrolling in University of Texas.
"LYNDA BIRD should have been a lawyer," Mrs. Johnson said of her daughter during the Presidential campaign. "She can talk you out of anything or into anything."
Obviously Lynda never takes advantage of her talent, or her mother's tendency to be indulgent. "Mother never tells us when to be in, just leaves it to our own judgment. How can you break faith with a woman who does that?"
The older daughter sums up the family traits this way: "Daddy, Lucy and I are outgoing and get all upset. But mother is reserved."
Finally she pays her mother the highest accolade in teenage jargon. "She never gets off the cube." (That means she stays cool, man, real cool.)

THE SHOW WILL GO ON
NEW YORK (AP) — The National Repertory Theater Company is making sure it will have transportation to get to the next city on its cross-country tour this winter.
The group, headed by Eva Le Gallienne, will use buses, trains, airplanes, helicopters, horse-drawn carriages (as part of a local pageant), and horse-drawn sleds in case of heavy snow.

240,000 Seek To Visit Relatives In E. Berlin

BERLIN (AP) — The flow of West Berliners through the Red wall rose today. So did the Communist effort to turn the Yuletide relaxation on border crossings to political advantage.

Deaths Funerals

John V. Clunk

LISBON — John V. (Middle) Clunk 81, retired copper mill and village employee, died Friday at 10:15 a.m. at Massillon State Hospital.

Born Aug. 13, 1882 in Lisbon, a son of John A. and Mary Eaholtz Clunk, he lived in Lisbon his entire life.

Survivors include one sister, Mrs. Helen Sexton, and a brother, Fred Clunk, both of Lisbon.

Services will be held Monday at 1:30 p.m. at the Bells-Leggett Funeral Home by the Rev. James Moxley, pastor of the First Christian Church. Burial will be in Lisbon Cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home Sunday evening.

Samuel Wiley

MINERVA — Samuel Wiley, 74, of 203 S. Market St. died at 4:30 a.m. today in Mercy Hospital at Canton after a lingering illness.

A retired employee of the Cronin China Co., he formerly lived in Sebring. He was a member of the Christian Church.

He is survived by his wife, Hester Ann; three daughters, four sons and 18 grandchildren. Services are pending at the Gottschall-Hutcheson Funeral Home where friends may call Monday evening.

ever saw," he said on the plane. "It was in 1910. The craft was an old cloth-covered biplane, and it had the name 'Vin Fiz' painted on it. It certainly was a flimsy thing compared to this beautiful airplane."

Honeck had become the nation's forgotten prisoner. He had been eligible for parole since 1949, but because he had no known living relatives, the Illinois Parole and Pardon Board had given little consideration to his release.

Then Mrs. Orth read an Associated Press story about her uncle's long imprisonment. She flew to Menard, visited him and assured the parole board that she would care for him should they free him into her custody.

"This certainly has been the most exciting day of my life," he said. "It has been an unforgettable excursion and just the finest and most wonderful thing that has ever happened to me. I feel like I have been reborn."

3 Minor Traffic

Mishaps Reported

Three two-car traffic mishaps investigated Friday by Salem police involved six Salem and Leetonia area motorists, none of whom were hurt.

Near noon, cars operated by Frank Kastanek, 38, of 317 N. Madison Ave. and James J. Cusick, 29, of 60 Elm St., Leetonia collided in the Salem China Co. lot on S. Broadway. The Salem car hit the left rear corner of the other.

Jane L. Johnson, 18, of RD 4, pulled from the first alley east of Lincoln Ave. and onto E. State St., striking a car at 7:52 p.m. operated by Theodore H. Vaughn, 48, of 393 Anglemeyer St., Leetonia.

At 4:25 p.m. two other vehicles owned by Evelyn Jean Kesseg, 34, of RD 1, and John H. Ehrhart, 26, of Olive St. were involved in a mishap on E. 2nd St. just east of Lundy. Mrs. Kesseg was parked on the north side of 2nd when Ehrhart's car slid on the snow and hit the left rear corner of her auto.

Lisbon Man Burned In Mine Accident

Raymond Phillips, 43, of Lisbon, an employee at the Buckeye Coal Mining Co. at Lisbon, was admitted to Salem City Hospital at 11:30 a.m. Friday with second degree burns of the back which he suffered during an accident at work which occurred when he was pouring oil into a burner and the burner exploded. His condition is listed as "fairly good."

"Welcome to democratic Berlin," said the usually grim East German border guards as West Berliners held out their one-day passes.

At the Friedrichstrasse Station, visitors arriving by elevated trains were met by similar speakers.

"Dear citizens of West Berlin, we welcome you to the capital of the German Democratic Republic."

In Moscow, the official Soviet news agency Tass acclaimed the "peaceful initiative" of the Red German government for allowing West Berliners to celebrate Christmas and New Year with their relatives in East Berlin.

Speedster Kills

Youngstown Officer

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP)—Frank Cichon, 41-year-old Youngstown policeman, was struck and killed by a speeding car early today as he and his partner were investigating another traffic accident.

Cichon's partner, Edward Mika, suffered an injury but was released from the hospital after treatment. Police arrested James Berick, 38, of Youngstown, driver of the car which struck Cichon, and held him for possible manslaughter charges.

Bill

send it back to the committee with instructions to reinstate the outright ban it had voted originally.

The move cast confusion over the fate of the foreign aid bill for this year and stalled Congress' plans to close up shop for the year and head home for a long Christmas holiday.

The House adjourned shortly before dawn broke over the capital with plans to meet again at noon.

The floor managers for the bill, Rep. Otto E. Passman, D-La., and Sen. John O. Pastore, D-R.I., said Senate and House conferees would meet two hours earlier to consider the measure.

Thus there likely will be one more attempt at passage before Congress quits.

Passman doubted, however, that he would have any luck getting the senators to approve the House amendment.

"It looks like we are not going to get a bill. I don't know," he said.

Would Not Accept Rider

Earlier, he had told the House the Senate would not accept the restrictive wheat amendment after voting it down twice and he told the House the compromise money total of $3 billion represented "the best that you'll ever get."

The House voted 141-136 to send the bill back to conference with instructions to insist upon the House amendment.

The bill, which had already gone through rough congressional seas, reached the House early this morning after a Senate-House conference committee compromised their differences during a long day of backstage huddles and frequent prodding telephone calls from President Johnson.

As shaped in the conference committee, the money bill was $1,525,325,000 less than the administration requested but would grant the President authority to approve a government guarantee of private financing of U.S. wheat sales to Soviet bloc countries.

The House had included in its version a ban against the export-import bank guaranteeing private financing of grains or any other products sent to Soviet bloc countries.

Johnson Protested Ban

Johnson had protested this arguing that it would jeopardize the proposed sale of U.S. wheat to Russia.

So it was stripped out and a compromise provision inserted which would give the President discretionary authority to permit the financing guarantees if he determines a sale would be "in the national interest," and so reports to appropriations and foreign relations committees of both houses.

The conference committee also agreed to supplement the $3 billion in new appropriations by the reappropriation of $259 million of last year's unspent funds to this made a total of $3,259,000,000 for foreign aid for the fiscal year which ends June 30.

Twenty-six Democrats, mostly conservative Southerners, voted with 115 Republicans for the motion while only three Republicans joined 113 Democrats voting against it.

Tass made no mention of the dreaded wall, built by the Communists in August 1961.

Even with the calculated Communist propaganda effort, West Berliners joyously welcomed the chance to see their relatives for the first time in more than two years.

"It was heartbreaking to say goodbye," said 40-year-old Wolfgang Paul after a visit to his mother in East Berlin. "But we feel much better now for having seen our mother, and we have more strength to face the future and new hope to see each other again."

The applications of 240,000 West Berliners were approved by East German authorities, the East German news agency reported today. This is more than a quarter of the 800,000 West Berliners eligible for visiting passes.

The second official day for the holiday visits began an hour ahead of schedule. Communist border guards obligingly raised the red and white barriers at the Oberbaum Bridge—one of the five crossing points—at 6 a.m. West Berliners had lined up in the cold, pre-dawn hours in hopes of an early start.

The guards even overlooked the regulation against bringing pets into East Berlin. Elsewhere, the guards also lifted the gates ahead of time, and the crossings were heavier than Friday.

Both East and West Berlin authorities were ready for a heavier flow than Friday when 2,800 persons crossed by car and foot and an estimated 1,000 went into East Berlin by elevated train. The tide is expected to swell considerably in the days ahead.

To apply for their passes, some persons waited 25 hours or more at the 12 special offices manned by East German postal workers. West Berlin officials urged patience, but there was grumbling about the red tape.

Even after applying, the West Berliners must return a day later for the passes. They are good for one-day visits with a midnight deadline for returning. The crossing program will continue until Jan. 5.

When the offices finally closed Friday, about 9,900 West Berliners still stood outside in the cold waiting for applications.

But most of those who did get into East Berlin said the long wait had been worthwhile.

Weather

Binghamton.

It was near zero across the snow-covered areas of Buffalo. Low marks in New England were -13 in Mt. Washington, -11 in Lebanon N.H. and -8 in Montpelier Vt.

Wintery weather in the form of snow sleet and light freezing rain hit parts of the South. Snow fell in western sections of Alabama and some highways were closed because icy conditions made driving dangerous.

Snow light freezing rain and drizzle fell in northern Louisiana and northern and east central Mississippi. Two inches of snow was reported in Meridian Miss. and Benton, La. with 1.12 inches of mixed snow and drizzle in Shreveport La.

Freezing rain and sleet pelted areas in the Texas Panhandle and Oklahoma.

Snow covered broad areas across the northern half of the nation assuring a white Christmas Wednesday unless there is a rapid change to warmer weather. Snow depths ranged up to more than two feet in some sections in the northern Midwest and in the Northeast. More than a foot of snow fell Friday in Oswego N.Y. southeast of Lake Ontario for a total of more than 66 inches for this season.

Winter makes its official debut at 9:02 a.m. (EST) Sunday when the sun reaches its most southern point in the sky—the winter solstice. Sunday will be the shortest day of sunlight during the year. Starting Monday the sun will begin to move northward again and the days will begin to get longer.

ACQUIRES ANOTHER FIRM

DETROIT (AP)—Lee Rubber Tire Corp's Republic Rubber Division of Youngstown, Ohio, is the latest acquisition of Aeroquip Corp. of Jackson, Mich.

Aeroquip announced the acquisition Friday for an estimated $5.5 million. It now has nine plants in the United States, one in Toronto, Ont., and two in Germany.

IT'S CHRISTMAS FOR NEWSBOYS, TOO—Salem News carriers received a gift from the company today—today's edition of the paper. As an expression of appreciation for their loyal service during the past year, the boys received today's paper free, permitting them to keep the entire amount they collect on their routes. ### right knee.

Parents of the children are Mr. and Mrs. Richard Riley of RD 1, New Waterford and Mr. and Mrs. Ralph McCoy and Mrs. Clyde Harroff of RD 1, Rogers. The children were treated by their family physicians.

The Patrol said Barbour was pulling his van from the driveway and onto County Road 423, a tenth of a mile south of Rogers, when the right wheel went off the roadway, causing the bus to partly overturn.

The tipover caused the pupils from the left side of the bus to fall on top of those on the right, spilling books, supplies, and Christmas gifts and candies. Older children helped the younger ones through windows when the emergency door frozen tight in the near-zero air failed to budge immediately.

Man, Boy Hurt

A Hanoverton area man and his young passenger were hurt in a one-car mishap Friday at 6:20 p.m. on Township Rd. 733, about a mile north of Route 172, when their car went off the right side of the road and struck a tree. The driver, Roderick Batzli, 53, of RD 1, Hanoverton, received abrasions and contusions of the nose and his passenger, Robert Pollick, same address, had abrasions of the forehead. Neither required treatment.

Vickie Vallor, 22, of RD 1, East Liverpool, sustained contusions of the right leg but did not require treatment when the auto in which she was riding was involved in a four-car mishap Friday night at 8:25 on Route 7, five miles south of Rogers.

She was a passenger in a car driven by Edward Vallor, 35, of RD 1, East Liverpool, whose vehicle was struck by another driven by Robert Boggs, 37, of RD 3, Lisbon, as the latter pulled from a parked position.

Vallor went off the left side of the road and hit two unoccupied parked cars owned by Robert Tranter of RD 3, East Liverpool, and William W. Artrip of RD 1, Rogers. Vallor's auto and the two parked ones were damaged considerably.

Two Cited for Speeding

Sherman Lee Griggs, 19, of RD 3, Lisbon, and Carol Sue Hilditch, 20, of RD 2, East Liverpool, were cited for speed excessive for conditions following a three-car mishap Friday at 10:10 on Township Rd. 926, three-tenths of a mile southwest of Route 267.

Griggs had slowed for an unknown car and struck another vehicle operated by Larry C. Yost, 17, of East Liverpool. Miss Hilditch, following behind Griggs, struck his car from the rear.

Only moderate property damage resulted when Joseph Jude, 18, of East Liverpool went off the left side of Route 267, a mile north of East Liverpool Friday at 1:45 p.m., and hit a fence owned by Walter Coleman of MC 22, Lisbon.

DRAFT COLLEGE TEST

ALLIANCE — Two Mount Union College professors have been asked to help design a test to be used nationwide by colleges and universities.

Prof. Gilbert R. Stonesifer, head of the economics and business administration department, and Ray W. Diehl Sr., department member, will help construct a course examination in introductory accounting for the Educational Testing Service, Princeton, N. J.

16 Fail To File Campaign Expenses

All the winning candidates at the Nov. 5 general election filed sworn expense statements, but 16 losers failed to meet the deadline Friday afternoon, the County Election Board said today.

Frank R. O'Hanlon, clerk, said the unsuccessful candidates included three from East Palestine, one each from Wells-ville, Hanoverton and the Lisbon exempted village school district, and one each from Center, Franklin, Hanover, Knox, Madison, Perry, St. Clair, Unity, West and Yellow Creek townships.

The names of those who failed to file the statements required under the Corrupt Practices Act will be turned over to Prosecuting Atty. G. William Brokaw and Secretary of State Ted W. Brown.

State law automatically bars candidates who do not file the reports from seeking public office again for five years.

The last two expense statements were filed about 10 minutes before the deadline at 4 yesterday afternoon, O'Hanlon said.

They were filed by Mrs. Veronica Wolski of West Point, who said she spent $20.50 in seeking a seat on the Beaver Local Board of Education, and Kenneth Ours, who received five write-in votes for a Rogers village post.

Threat

Tex. Russell McLarry was freed on $2,500 bail after his arrest Thursday on a charge of threatening President Kennedy the day before the President was assassinated in nearby Dallas.

McLarry, according to a Secret Service complaint, said he would be waiting with a gun to shoot the President when he neared Dallas' Trade Mart. The President didn't get that far.

McLarry denied distributing anti-Kennedy literature and said his shooting threat was said in a joking manner. He denied knowing accused assassin Lee Harvey Oswald, another avowed member of the Fair Play for Cuba Committee.

THEFT PROBE CONTINUES

Investigation of the theft of a woman's diamond ring and a man's watch is being continued today by the Columbiana County sheriff's department.

Miss Aletha Baum, Wellsville, reported the theft Thursday to the Wellsville police who turned it over to county sheriff's office as the home is outside the city limits.

Deputy Dave Brothers said the thief, entered the home between 9 a.m. and 9 p.m. by pushing open a basement window.

Rep. Green Succumbs at Age of 53

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — U.S. Rep. William J. Green Jr., a 16-year veteran of Congress, died today at the age of 53.

He had undergone emergency surgery last week for peritonitis with gall bladder complications. He had been on the critical list ever since, and took a turn for the worse Thursday night.

Green, for more than 10 years chairman of Philadelphia's Democratic committee, had a political influence reaching far behind his home district. He was credited by the late President Kennedy with insuring that the Democrats carried Pennsylvania in the 1960 presidential election.

Green was elected to Congress in 1944, while serving in the Army and became Philadelphia's party chairman following the election of Democratic mayor — now senator — Joseph S. Clark in 1951, an election which ended 68 years of Republican control in this city.

Bill — or Billy Green as fellow politicians knew him — was a tough party disciplinarian, but a father — four sons and two daughters — who was not above playing basketball with his boys.

With Patients

Two area residents were treated and released at Alliance City Hospital Friday for injuries received in separate miscellaneous accidents.

Floyd Zeller, 40, of Beloit fractured his right wrist while pushing a car and was treated at 4:45 p.m.

Sam Weingart, 19, of Berlin Center, was treated for fractures of the fingers which he received while working at the Alliance Steel Products Co. at 2:20 p.m.

waiting for him and his assistant manager to leave at 9:45 p.m. "There's a hundred and one places he could have hidden here," the manager said.

Police believe the man, after "lights out," left his hiding place, then went downstairs to let in his accomplice. The first attempt to permit the entrance of the other man was apparently made by way of a window facing on the store's rear stairs, halfway between the first and second stories. Footprints of a man were found in the snow on the roof outside this large window, but bars covering the window kept the accomplice from entering.

It appears the inside man then went to the large doors on the dock by the rear store room and opened them by knocking off the inside lock. Manier said the men must have left the scene by this door. The tracks of an unknown vehicle were seen here.

Beloit Woman Hurt In Two-Car Crash

BELOIT — Mrs. Lillian Gowen, 39, of Beloit was treated for contusions of the head and released from Alliance City Hospital at 7:10 p.m. Friday. Her injuries resulted from a two-car collision on Rt. 173, near the Quaker City Plaza at 6:40 p.m.

A car driven by Mrs. Gowen was traveling east on Route 173 when it was struck from the rear by an auto driven by William Dale Morris, 38, also of Beloit. Morris, who was not injured, was cited by Deputy Sheriff A. R. Eells for failure to stop within an assured clear distance.

State Department in the afternoon.

Rusk said the tragedy of President John F. Kennedy's assassination had worked as a kind of unifying element in the NATO meeting and he added that European officials had displayed great confidence in Johnson's leadership and were pleased by the way he had taken hold of his responsibilities as President.

Rusk made plain that in his view the chief result of the NATO Council session he had attended in Paris was the development of a broad consensus to continue probing for agreements with the Soviet Union. In this connection he emphasized the possibility of progress on measures to provide safeguards against surprise attack.

This is an idea which has been discussed frequently in the East-West meetings. Soviet Premier Khrushchev spoke favorably of the proposal last summer after the limited nuclear test-ban treaty had been signed.

The Russians however have linked the observation-post suggestion with other possible measures such as the creation of nuclear-free zones in Central Europe and a limit on Eastern and Western forces in Central Europe.

Synopsis: The children visited the Fairy Queen who said she could only break the charm if she were given something gold, something pearl and something visible.

(Chapter 17)

MERRY CHRISTMAS

All seemed lost. How was it possible to find something gold and something pearl and something invisible — all real and not from fairyland—in time for the Queen to save Santa Land from Nog?

It just couldn't be done and all the joy had gone from the fairies' Christmas party. The Queen sat disconsolate on her red velvet throne surrounded by gloomy princes and tearful maids in waiting. The orchestra put down its violins and the dancers drooped against the walls.

Sissy, who had been hiding behind Jeremy's back all this time, came forward and curtsied to the Queen. "Your Majesty," she said shyly. "I have something gold."

"WHAT IS IT, my dear?" asked the Queen kindly. Sissy reached up and touched

"Merry Christmas to all."

Wiping Out the Wall

Berliner Urges Reunification of Germany

By AL SIMPSON
Repository State Editor

BERLIN (By Airmail) — It was cold in Berlin today—biting cold—bone-chilling cold.

But it couldn't possibly be as cold as the war which does such things to humanity as are perpetrated here.

It has been said many times that you personally have to see the Wall to grasp its meaning completely. It is true.

Another of the questions I hoped to find the answer to while on this tour of France, Germany and Great Britain was this: "Could the Berlin Wall have been knocked down when it was being erected without touching off war?"

WE WERE TOLD by a civilian authority here, during an informative briefing, that it was learned from East Berliners erecting the wall that they expected it to be knocked down immediately.

But the Wall stands today. And there are many, other than Berliners, who believe it has done a great deal to turn the floodlights of truth on the Communist way of life.

"The greatest monument to democracy ever built," is the way one Air Force officer put it.

Although the wall violates the of view, nothing else could have been done.

STATISTICS given us indicate East Germany is believed to stand sixth among the world's industrial countries, and is, therefore, very important to Russia.

An American military officer in an important position here said:

"If the wall had not been put up, this country would have been out of business. They just couldn't sustain the daily losses in population they were suffering."

More than 4 million people have fled from East Berlin and the Soviet Zone since 1945—more than the entire population of Norway.

My reaction upon first seeing and touching the Berlin Wall was, I believe, a typically American one. It made me seethe. I was thinking, "What goes with these jerks?" I wanted to kick the stuffings out of it—wipe it out. But wishing, alone, won't make it so.

HOW IS IT to be done, then?

Herr Werner Steltzer of the Berlin Information Center has thought a great deal about this.

He expressed the belief that force must be met with force—but he said the "tough policy" has gained no ground in the Cold War. Therefore, he said, perhaps an easing of tensions, brought about through mutual concessions, could prove effective in helping ultimately to reunite Germany.

Declaring with complete conviction that the German population that reunification, he quoted statistics in support of his statement.

SEVENTY PER CENT of West Berliners have relatives on the other side of the Wall, he said. He estimated, from the figures, that 80 per cent of the East Germans are against the Communists, 5 per cent are dyed-in-the-wool Reds and 15 per cent are somewhere in between.

Berliners, he claims, feel as secure as residents of any other city. But he stressed their appreciation for the security provided by the Allied forces.

He gave a global application to his thinking when he said: "He is an illusionist who thinks there can be a genuine permanent peace as long as there is a divided Germany."

Miracle in a Manger

On the holy night, the Christ child was born to an unknown carpenter and his wife in Bethlehem.

No palace physician attended the Prince of Peace — perhaps a mid-wife or a serving maid.

No fine linens were prepared for the mother; no crib for the Babe—just the straw and the manger were theirs.

No royal salute was fired to announce His arrival — only the braying of the animals in their stalls was heard.

Never was royalty greeted with less pomp and circumstance.

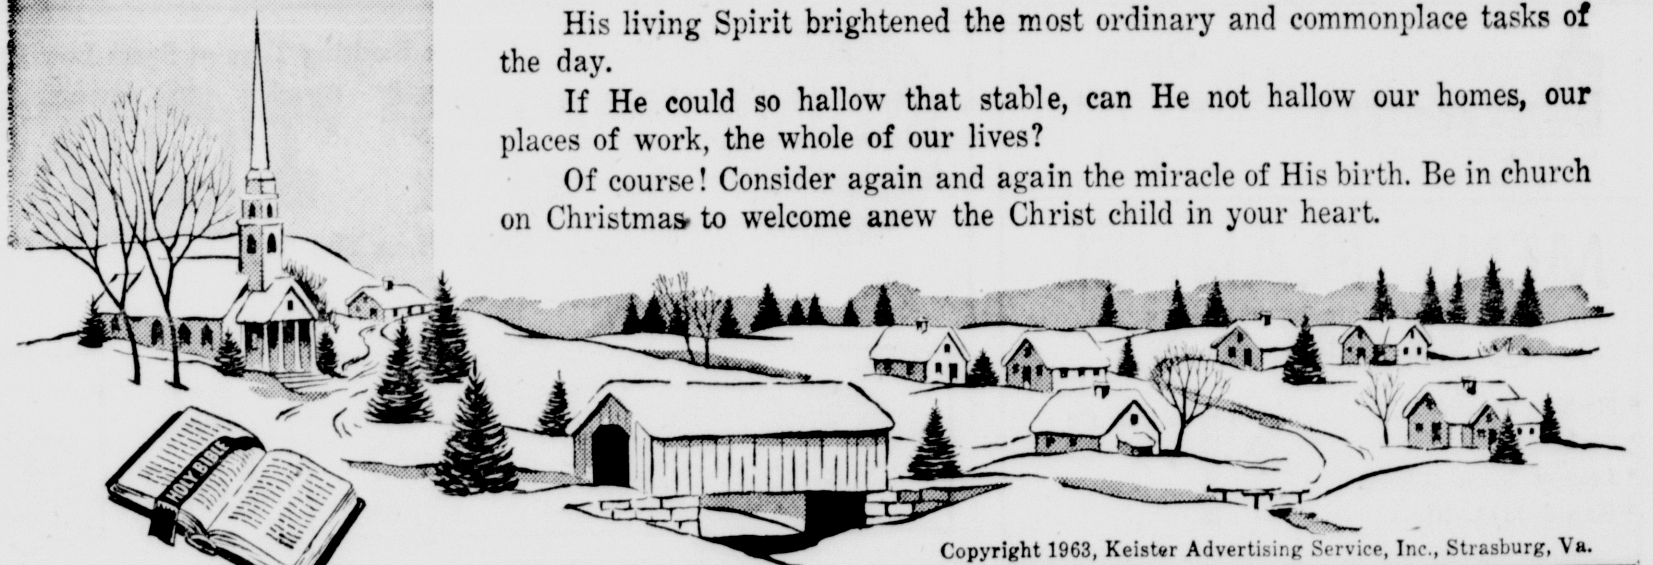

Why? Because man could not raise himself to God!

So God sent His Son to light up our hearts and minds with His Divine Presence.

His living Spirit brightened the most ordinary and commonplace tasks of the day.

If He could so hallow that stable, can He not hallow our homes, our places of work, the whole of our lives?

Of course! Consider again and again the miracle of His birth. Be in church on Christmas to welcome anew the Christ child in your heart.

'Broken Homes' Main Cause of Juvenile Delinquency, Court Officer Asserts

Salem Man Spends 17 Years Working With Youth

By RALPH FRATILA

"Every boy has some good and some bad in him, and each is subjected at some time during his youth to an impulse to commit a crime.

"But if he has had the proper home atmosphere and religious training, and if respect for law and authority has been instilled in him, he can usually shrug off that impulse."

The foregoing observations are presented by Cornelius Csepke, 51, of the Georgetown Road, chief probation officer for the Columbiana County Juvenile Court.

"Niel," a big burly man whose "bruising tackle" appearance belies a usually gentle nature, has ample reasons to support his beliefs — accumulated over a 17-year period of dealing with delinquent youth.

"NINETY PER CENT OF the boys and girls who appear before Juvenile Court Judge Louis Tobin are products of broken homes," Niel says. "In many of the other cases, you'll find the parents have neglected to instruct their children in regard to religion or 'right or wrong'—or just plain neglected them."

Niel, who was appointed juvenile court officer June 10, 1946, by the late Probate Judge Milton Cope, concedes that many other factors contribute to the spiraling trend of juvenile delinquency.

Among them he cites the constant television fare of violence and strong emotion, the rebellion of the modern young generation against parental restraint, and the ease with which youths get around these days (a boy who hasn't access to use of a car on his 16th birthday is a rare individual).

There are also isolated instances wherein the boy comes from a good, closely-knit family, is brought up well and given numerous advantages and still goes wrong, Niel admits.

THE JUVENILE OFFICER, who has been associated with some law enforcement agency most of his adult years, resigned a job as county deputy sheriff to work with wayward children.

In the days when he dealt with mature malefactors, he often thought that many of them might not be in their present circumstances if someone had helped them when they were young and just starting out on the wrong road. His growing desire to aid youths in trouble prompted him to apply for the juvenile officer's job as soon as an opening arose.

"It was a decision I've never regretted," he said. "I wouldn't want to be in any other kind of work."

Niel was born July 19, 1912, in Woodbridge, N.J., the son of Rev. and Mrs. Stephen Csepke.

A minister of the Hungarian Presbyterian faith, his father took his family with him over much of the country while he organized churches—five in all —and occupied the pulpits of others.

Perhaps it was this religious, dedicated environment which later influenced the Salem man to take up a life of service to unfortunate youth.

He came to the Salem area in 1940 as a state highway patrolman and served the next three and a half years at the posts on S. Lincoln Ave. and on Rt. 45 just south of the city.

He resigned from the Patrol Oct. 1, 1943 to accept a job as deputy under Sheriff George Hayes of Lisbon. He occupied that job only a few months before entering the Navy.

After 22 months in service, 11 of which he spent on Guam with a Navy medical research outfit, he returned to his job as deputy which he held until his appointment to the juvenile officer's position.

ON CALL 24 HOURS A DAY, Niel is often summoned in the middle of the night by police of communities in the northern part of the county which he covers.

"When the police pick up a juvenile and call me, I have them notify the parents of the youth and ask them to come to the station," Niel says. "Then I go down and talk to them and usually end up by releasing the boy into his parents' custody pending whatever action is called for.

"Only once in 17 years have I been taken advantage of by boys I turned over to their parents," Niel says. "Three youths, members of the same gang, ran away, but they were picked up afterward."

State law requires juvenile prisoners to be kept apart from adult prisoners. Although not all communities have facilities for keeping boys separate from adult prisoners, that's not the principal reason Niel releases the youths over to their parents. "I just hate to lock up a frightened kid unless it's absolutely necessary," he says.

The juvenile officer customarily keeps a weapon handy while at work. "You have to be prepared for any eventuality," he says. "A parent with barely a spark of decency in him may turn savage when faced with the prospect of having his child taken from him."

BOYS OUTNUMBER girls in appearances in juvenile court, Niel declares. Shoplifting is the predominate offense committed by girls.

Niel's sidekick is James Miller of Salineville, an ex-chief deputy sheriff, Miller covers the southern half of the county for the juvenile court.

Niel resides with his wife, Olga, and children, Niel, 16, and Tommy, 14, in a ranch home on the Georgetown Road about a mile south of the city. Another son, Fred, is married and lives elsewhere.

The remaining members of Niel's family, his mother and his sister, Mrs. Gay Wilkinson, live in suburbs of Chicago.

Gregg, Begalla Share 34 Points

By MARK W. MILLER
News Sports Editor

A polished Massillon showed too much basketball savvy as it outclassed Salem 81-51 in an Ohio Big 8 Conference game at Senior High gymnasium Friday night as the Tigers handed the Quakers their third straight loss.

So effective was the Tigers' defense that it caused Salem to gamble with long shots and the lanky visitors would then control the rebound, while rolling to their fourth win in five starts.

Under the boards Coach Nick Vrotsos' veteran powerhouse would, almost all the time, out-position the smaller Quakers. The Tigers hauled in 52 rebounds compared to 28 for Salem.

Salem's inexperience was noticeable against the superior Massillon unit. The Red and Black had 15 turnovers, and 10 attempted field goals were blocked.

QUICK BASKETS by Will Perry and John Muhlback gave the victors a 4-0 lead in the first minute of play.

George Begalla dropped in a free throw to give Salem its first point at the 6:54 mark. Rick Gregg made a push shot to cut the deficit to 4-3, but that was the closest Salem got as Massillon spurred for five points to put the game out of reach. The Tigers held a 24-11 lead at the end of the first period.

In the second period, Massillon held Salem to eight points, limiting them to two baskets.

After Muhlback missed a field goal attempt, he made three straight shots and added two free throws.

THE SMOOTH WORKING of defense used by the Tigers seemed to always have a player in good position for the easy shot. In the second half the Quakers held their own with the Tigers. Salem began to find its shooting eye and discovered they could also drive on the Tigers.

During the final two frames, Coach John Cabas had a chance to see some of his substitutes in action. Sophomore Jim Lantz hit a basket and four straight foul shots in the fourth quarter. Jay Oana, huskie 6-0 soph, entered the tilt in the third frame and showed plenty of scrap and hustle.

Begalla tried to drive against the Tigers and drew a number of foul shots. He made seven of 12 from the free-throw lane.

AT ONE POINT in the game Massillon spurred for 10 points, with Floyd Pierce making eight of them. It gave the Tigers a commanding 48-19 margin.

From the field, the visitors attempted 67 shots and swished the nets 32 times for a terrific 47.7 shooting percentage. At the foul line the Tigers tossed in 17 of 27 free throws for 62.9 per cent.

Salem was held to 31.8 per cent, one of its lowest shooting percentages in a couple of years. The Red and Black attempted 44 shots and hit on only 14 of them.

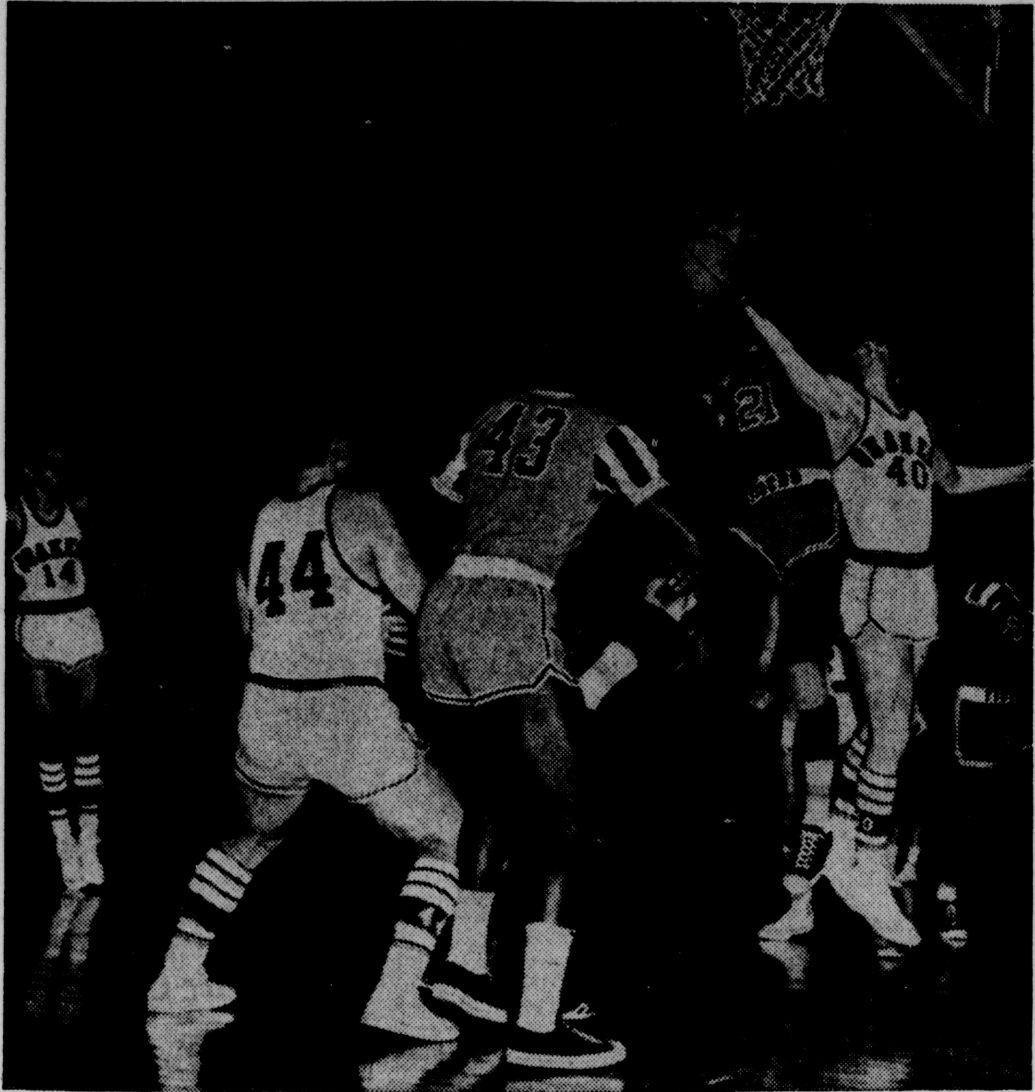

From the charity circle, Salem did a good job canning 23 of 36 free throws for 63.8 per cent.

During the contest, Massillon had a total of 12 turnovers. On only three occasions did the Tigers throw the basketball away.

Pierce, who was the leading rebounder in the game with 14, led the Tigers with 19 points. Ed Buchanan and John Muhlback had 16 apiece and Perry chipped in with 13.

Wayne "Binks" Washington was Salem's best rebounder. He pulled down nine rebounds off both boards. The 5-10 senior didn't score a basket, but did a tremendous job at the foul line, making eight of nine free throws.

RICK GREGG, held to seven points in the first half, found the range for six field goals in the last two periods and finished with 19 points to lead all Salem scorers.

UP FOR REBOUND — Floyd Pierce, 6-0, of Massillon goes up for a rebound with Salem's Dennis Everhart (40) in the second period of last night's basketball game which the Tigers won 81-51. Also in position for the rebound were George Begalla (44) of Salem, and Will Perry (43) of Massillon. Rick Gregg (14) of the Red and Black is in background.

Begalla tried nine shots from the field and swished the nets four times to go along with his seven fouls. He finished the game with 15 points.

Massillon will entertain East Liverpool in another loop clash tonight.

The Quakers are idle until Dec. 26 when they play host to Cleveland Benedictine. The Bengals lost 74-57 to Cleveland John Adams last night.

Lisbon Trims United 67-60 For 5th Straight Victory

Lisbon High School got quite a scare from United before pulling out a hard earned 67-61 victory on its own home floor Friday night.

It was the fifth straight win for the unbeaten Blue Devils who handed the Golden Eagles their second loss in five starts.

The game was in doubt until midway through the fourth frame. United had cut the deficit to 59-58.

LARRY WEBER then dropped in two free throws and Tim Bucher made a layup shot to give the Blue Devils a 63-58 margin.

Coach Gary Pike's squad shot a sizzling 52 per cent during the final two stanzas.

The Blue Devils took a 17-12 lead in the initial period, but Coach Jack Mills, directing the Golden Eagles against the school he formerly coached, led United to a 25-25 comeback by intermission.

In the third period Lisbon canceled five straight foul shots to start the session, then moved ahead 50-40 by half time.

From the field, Lisbon attempted 52 field goals and hit on 44 of them for 84 per cent. The Blue Devils tossed in 21 of 32 free throws for 66 per cent.

Webber led the Blue Devils with 19 points. Charles Yoos, 6-4 center, chipped in with 13. Larry McPherson netted 15 and Rose finished with 10.

Ken Votaw took scoring honors for United with 22 points. Homer Sturgeon came in with 15. Bill McGranahan collected 14 and Dick Farmer netted 10.

Lisbon's reserves knocked off United junior varsity 43-29.

The Blue Devils will remain idle through the Christmas holiday season, then resume action at home against Louisville Jan. 3.

West Branch Nips Palestine 52-50

The Warriors of West Branch High School eked out a 52-50 win over the visiting East Palestine Bulldogs Friday for their third season victory. It was East Palestine's fourth loss.

Tying for scoring honors were Phil Sharp for the winners and Steve Hirt for the losers with 16 points apiece. The Bulldogs' Mike Smotrilla was close behind with 14.

The Warriors led 52-46 after Jim Boyle sank two foul shots with 45 seconds remaining in the contest but two shots by Dickey and Patten in the closing seconds left East Palestine just two points behind when the final buzzer sounded.

For its win, West Branch sank 23 field goals of 60 attempts for 38.3 per cent and went six for 19 at the foul line for 31.5 per cent. The Bulldogs had a 35 per cent effort from the field, hitting on 20 of 57 tries, and 66.6 per cent from the foul line, sinking 10 of 15 attempts.

West Branch, now 3-2, will travel to Lakeview tonight. Seeking its second win, East Palestine will entertain Leetonia Jan. 3.

Salem Reserves Lose 41-37 To Massillon

Massillon junior varsity turned back a strong fourth quarter rally by Salem to pull out a thrilling 41-37 victory at Senior High field house Friday night.

Coach Carl ellers' squad has lost two heartbreakers so far this season while posting one victory. The Red and Black dropped a 41-38 decision to Youngstown Ursuline to open the campaign.

The Tigers took a 9-6 lead in the initial period and increased that margin to 21-13 at intermission. Salem retaliated to cut the deficit to 23-27 at the end of the third session.

The Quakers managed to tie the score 28-28, but the visitors then pulled ahead with a five straight points and Salem was never able to catch back up.

Down nine points with three minutes to go, Salem did manage to fight back to 38-35, but a foul and basket gave the game to the Tigers.

Denny Miller paced Salem with 10 points. David Pollock canned 10 markers for the winners.

From the foul line, neither team was very sharp. Salem made only nine of 24 free throw compared to three of 13 for Massillon.

Wake Forest Rolls Over Princeton, Eyes Kentucky

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer

"All we need is a big victory and our boys will believe they can beat anybody."

Well, Coach Bones McKinney and his Wake Forest Deacons got their "big victory" Friday night and so tonight they are confident of upsetting the unbeaten Kentucky Wildcats, considered by many to be the best college basketball team in the country right now.

Their meeting in the championship game of the UK Invitational Tournament at Lexington, Ky., highlights an action-packed pre-Christmas week-end on virtually every court from coast to coast.

Wake Forest, which lost its first two games then bounced back to beat Purdue and Marquette, crushed Princeton 86-67 the first round of the UK Friday night. Frank Christie led the Deacons with 23 points as the ACC boys befuddled the Ivy League champs.

Kentucky, currently ranked second to Chicago Loyola in The Associated Press rankings, made it six in a row by crushing Wisconsin 108-65 in the other first round UK game. The Wildcats again were led by Cotton Nash and Ted Deeken, who scored 33 and 23 points, respectively.

The No. 1 Loyola Ramblers also made it six victories against no defeats by walloping Ohio Wesleyan 91-47. UCLA, also unbeaten and ranked sixth, buried Baylor 112-61. The once beaten No. 4 Cincinnati Bearcats, the only other team in the AP top ten to play Friday, downed Denver 64-48.

In other holiday tourneys, Tennessee and Virginia Tech won in the Virginia Tech Invitational, Texas Western and William and Mary won in the Arkansas State Invitational, and California and Arizona State won in the Sun Devils Classic.

Houston finished on top in the Bluebonnet Classic by defeating Oklahoma City 72-62 and the Quantico Marines again won their Christmas tourney by defeating Austin Peay 86-73.

Arizona State snapped a four-game losing streak by crushing Oklahoma 127-95 in the Sun Devils Classic at Tempe where California had defeated Michigan State 78-63.

A 10-foot jump shot by Jim Roy with 19 seconds left in an extra period gave William and Mary a 73-71 victory over Arkansas State in the Arkansas State Invitational at Jonesboro. Texas Western humbled Tulane 76-59 in the first game.

Soph Paul Long went on a shooting spree in the second half to bring Virginia Tech from 14 points behind for a 72-64 victory over Louisiana State in the Tech Invitational at Blacksburg, Va. Long got 12 of Tech's last 15 points, including eight straight free throws in the last two minutes. Tennessee whipped Maryland 70-59 in the other first round game.

After Villanova set a Philadelphia Palestra scoring record by trouncing St. Francis, Pa., 113-64, Steve Thomas' one-hander with six seconds left gave a-vier of Ohio a 76-75 triumph over St. Joseph's, Pa.

In other major games Oregon State defeated Indiana 70-57, Southern Cal took Nebraska 79-73, Brigham Young whipped Rice 89-78, Creighton overcame Long Beach 99-93, Stanford downed San Jose 56-50, Utah State drubbed New Mexico State 115-75, Washington State defeated Regis 59-48, Southern Methodist humbled Auburn 84-70 and Rhode Island made it six in a row by taking Brown 86-70.

Australia's Players Won't Jeopardize Davis Cup Effort

By WILL GRIMSLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

ADELAIDE, Australia (AP)—Roy Emerson, leader in the rebellion of Australia's top tennis players, promised today that he and his teammates would not let the controversy jeopardize Australia's Davis Cup effort.

"The Davis Cup is something different," the gaunt, 27-year-old Queenslander said in discussing the pitched battle with the Australian ruling association.

"None of us wants to let the country down," he said. "You may say that, if selected, I positively will be on the courts Thursday when we go against the Americans."

Emerson, the Australian champion, is the country's hope of retaining the international tennis trophy against the revitalized U.S. team headed by Wimbledon champion Chuck McKinley and Dennis Ralston.

Challenge round matches start on the Memorial Drive Courts next Thursday with two singles tilts. The doubles Friday is to be followed by the closing singles Saturday in the best-of-five series. The draw will be held Christmas Day.

Emerson and other ranking players who formed a players' union are up in arms over the decision of the Lawn Tennis Association of Australia to curtail an international schedule. The LTAA refused to permit the players to go overseas before March 31.

The players threatened to boycott the Australian championships next month and five of them — Emerson, Fred Stolle, Ken Fletcher, Bob Hewitt and Martin Mulligan—admitted they are considering emigrating to Britain.

Most observers considered the latter threat a power play to get the desired concessions.

Norman Strange, LTAA president, and other officials were huddling in an effort to resolve the crisis before the Davis Cup play.

Emerson, disdaining captain Harry Hopman's traditional ban on interviews by Davis Cup members, said he and the others were determined to improve the privileges of tournament players, particularly regarding overseas play and expense accounts.

Findlay, Xavier Winners

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Ohio collegiate basketball, already had Bowling Green's Howard Komives at 6-foot-11 leading the nation's major school scorers at latest NCAA count. Now all of a sudden Ohio has another relative "shorty" front and center in the point production derby.

He's Xavier's 6-foot Steve Thomas. Steve racked up 32 points in Philadelphia Friday night, including a jumper from the foul circle with six seconds left, that brought the Musketeers a 76-75 triumph over St. Joseph's (Pa.).

Thomas' effort follows on the heels of his 42-point output Monday night against Villa Madonna, which in turn followed a 37-point binge in a losing cause at St. Bonaventure a week ago.

The Xavier victory, boosting the Muskies to a 4-2 record, shared the spotlight on a 13-game car for Ohio colleges with convincing showing by Cincinnati and Miami. The Bearcats (5-1) won easily at Denver 64-48 and the Redskins (6-2) clobbered favored Pittsburgh 77-63 at Johnstown, Pa.

On holiday tournament fronts, Bluffton beat Heidelberg 78-70 and Findlay whipped Denison 68-60 to advance to tonight's finals of the first annual Findlay College Tourney; Capital and Ohio Northern lost consolation games in the Quantico Mat-rines' event, the Crusaders to West Chester (Pa.) 80-64 and the Polar Bears to Randolph-Macon (Va.) 75-56, while Cedarville won over Drury (Mo.) 83-56 in the first round of the William Penn Invitational at Oskaloosa, Iowa, and advanced to tonight's championship game with host William Penn.

Ohio Wesleyan's overmatched Bishops held Loyola of Chicago to the Ramblers' lowest score of the campaign but never had a chance in bowling 91-47. OWU star Barry Clemens held his own, though, with 20 points against the nation's No. 1 team.

Rounding out the slate, Ashland beat Malone 89-66, and in interstate engagements, Marietta lost to Bethany (W. Va.) 95-

76. Steubenville fell at West Liberty (W. Va.) 65-63, and Wooster took a 90-68 drubbing at Rochester (N.Y.).

Denver had a one-man gang in Frank Mixon with 28 of his team's 48 points, but Cincinnati had better balance paced by Ron Bonham's 15 and put down the Pioneers who were hampered by poor foul shooting.

Miami's sparkling victory was the fourth straight for the Redskins. They've caught fire and rolled over Bowling Green, DePauw, Purdue and Pitt in succession. Once again they have climbed in with the favorites for the Mid-American Conference race which gets going in earnest after New Year's.

Mississippi St. Favored Today

Liberty Bowl May Draw Only 10,000

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
North Carolina State and Mississippi State, a pair of Dixie dandies, tried to warm up frost-bitten Philadelphia today in what could be the luckless Liberty Bowl's last stand.

While the East's sole survivor among major post-season grid classics struggled to escape a permanent deep-freeze, there was sunny sailing for two other early bowl arrivals in the Southland.

At Miami, George Mira and Jack Concannon matched missiles in the North-South all-star tilt. At Houston, Baylor's aerial artist Don Trull collided with LSU's punishing defense in the Bluebonnet Bowl.

Only 10,000 fans were expected to brave sub-freezing weather to watch N.C. State and Mississippi State tangle in Philadelphia's 102,000-seat Municipal Stadium. Liberty Bowl promoter Bud Dudley expected to lose 20,000 despite a top-notch attraction in the Atlantic Coast and Southeastern Conference powers.

The Philadelphia bowl has been a red-ink operation for five years. Adding to Dudley's woes this year was the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People displeasure over the invitation to Mississippi State. The NAACP threatened to picket theadium.

The Maroons of Mississippi State were 6½ point favorites over the Wolfpack in the nationally-televised contest.

It was to be aired by NBC beginning at 1 p.m., EST.

The SEC club defeated Orange Bowl-bound Auburn and tied Sugar Bowl-bound Mississippi and dropped a one-point verdict to Alabama, Ole Miss' Sugar Bowl foe, during a 6-2-2 season.

North Carolina State, runner-up in the ACC, won eight of 10 games.

In the North-South affair, Miami's Mira was to throw to an array of top Southern receivers. Concannon, of Boston College, and his record-setting alternate, George Bork of Northern Illinois, figured to mix their passing with a strong running game. A crowd of 44,000 was expected. ABC-TV was to telecast the game beginning at 4 p.m., EST.

CBS-TV was to carry the Bluebonnet classic, starting at 3:30 p.m., EST.

Chargers Face Bronco Hex

Win Will Mean West Division Title

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer
The San Diego Chargers are a short stride from the American Football League's Western Division title but they'll have to tame a Denver Bronco hex to get home free.

San Diego, back on top in the West after a dismal 163 finish, can lock up the division crown by either beating or tying last-place Denver Sunday as the AFL makes its final regular-season go-round. Sid Gillman's club however, hasn't been able to corral the Broncos since one-time Gillman aide Jack Faulkner took over the Denver coaching reins last year.

Oakland's tenacious Raiders will play host to Houston and the West Coast Cinderella entry will be looking for Denver's whammy to hold up. The Raiders, a game off the pace, can force a sectional playoff if they get by the Oilers and San Diego tumblers.

New York's Jets visit Kansas City in the other season finale while Boston and Buffalo, having completed their schedules last weekend, take a breather before untangling their Eastern Division deadlock Saturday, Dec. 28.

The rival National Football League, its season finished, awaits the title playoff between New York and Chicago, at Chicago- Dec. 2.

San Diego, 10-3, is a solid choice to snap Denver's run of three straight regular season decisions over the Chargers. In 1963, Faulkner whipped his former boss twice. This year the Broncos, 2-10-1, scored 31 points in the last quarter to pull out a 50-34 verdict in the teams' first meeting.

Sunday's rematch sends a healthy San Diego wrecking crew against a crippled Denver club. AFL Player-of-the-Year Tobin Rote has shaken off a hurtis attack and will direct the Chargers' attack. Keith Lincoln, out last week with a concussion, rejoins Lance Alworth and Paul Lowe in the backfield.
The Broncos could suit up only 21 of 33 soldiers during practice sessions this week. Third-stringer Don Breaux is the only sound quarterback. Top ground-gainer Billy Joe, defensive captain Bud McPadin and safetyman Hewitt Dixon are all injury marks because of injuries.

Griffith Stopped By Carter In First

By ED SCHUYLER JR.

PITTSBURGH (AP) - "No welterweight has any business in the ring with me," Rubin (Hurricane) Carter said before his scheduled 10-round fight with welterweight champion Emile Griffith Friday night.

A crowd of 5,436 and a nationwide television audience found out it was no idle boast when they saw the No. 2 ranked midweight stop Griffith in the first round in what could rank as the upset of the year.

The quick ending and the fact that the favored Griffith had never been knocked out before gave added weight to the upset.

The 155-pound Carter, packing dynamite in both hands, dropped the man who was named Fighter of the Year by the Boxing Writers Association twice before the bout was stopped at 2:31. Griffith weighed 151½.

Griffith was dropped first by a vicious left hook and went down the second time under a rain of head blows. Griffith was on his feet again when referee Buck McTiernan ended it.

The outcome might have surprised many, but Carter made it clear that he wasn't surprised.

Carter said in the dressing room after the fight: "Like I told you before, they have no business putting a welterweight in with me."

The victory brought the 26-year-old Paterson, N.J. slugger's career record to 18-4, with 12 knockouts, and put him in the spotlight for a crack at Joey Giardello's middleweight crown.

I am going to be working for the reelection of our sheriff Russell VanFossan.

As most of you perhaps know, I have the greatest respect for all good law enforcement officers and a lot of contempt for any other kind.

I think any person who is doing a fine job, no matter what their party affiliation, should remain, if they are doing a poor job they should go. This is especially so in local government where the individual really knows the candidates and can watch them perform their duties.

Has Been Village Treasure Half-Century

Hanoverton's 'Pat' Faloon Is 'Salesman Extraordinary'

By GLENN SCHOTTEN

HANOVERTON — A merry Irishman here, who's almost a dead ringer for Santa Claus if he'd put on the right garb, is coming in the home stretch of a 50-year term as village treasurer.

As jolly and witty as St. Nick himself, Leland "Pat" Faloon is almost a living myth in these parts. As a lifelong traveling salesman, he is known far and wide throughout the Columbiana County and even beyond its picturesque borders.

"Pat" or "Doc" is a unique man whose features are left indelibly on the memory. Once you've seen him, you won't soon forget. He is heavily built with jolly girth that only enhances his good-natured appearance. A white thatch of hair on top balances out a growth of chin hairs and a slightly golden moustache, delicately curled at the tips, is sandwiched in between.

Spectacles don't quite camouflage an impish gleam in his Irish eyes. A pipe is his almost constant companion. Atop all these features usually sits a high-brimmed hat, dented in from both sides, like it might have been caught in a revolving door.

EVER SINCE 1913, "Pat" has shown up at Council sessions, keeping tab of the ebb and flow of village finances. He was appointed by then Mayor Albert "Ab" Johnson and was re-elected every two years thereafter. He will be sworn in Jan. 6 by current mayor, George Wilson, to begin his 50th year on the job.

A tribute to Hanoverton Council and its longtime money manager is this: the village has never been in debt in the last half century and never has had to ask the citizens to pass a bond issue.

ROUNDS OUT 50 YEARS — Leland "Pat" Faloon, here shown repairing a milking machine pulsator for a district dairyman, in January will start his 50th year as Hanoverton village treasurer. The jovial Irishman has spent a lifetime in Hanover Township but is well-known for miles around.

So efficient is Faloon's record-keeping, done in an artistic hand, that the annual audit by the state is only a cursory matter. "The auditor told my dad his records are the best kept and the neatest he has ever seen," reports his daughter, Mrs. Louis Weirick of 196 S. Madison, Salem.

FURTHER PROOF of Faloon's skill in financing is his 4½ years as a board member, clerk and treasurer of the Hanover Township school board from 1940 to 1945. When Faloon came on the board scene, it had assumed $800 of debt, which in those pre-inflationary days was a lot of money. But by the time "Pat" went off the board, four new buses had been bought and $5,000 had gone into a school building fund.

"That's what it means when you run a public office like you would your own private business," the village treasurer says. He believes that governments and all agencies supported by tax monies should be run on a financially sound basis just like a grocery store, bank or other business.

If Izaak Walton was "The Compleat Angler," Faloon is "The Complete Extrovert." His gregariousness gave him a natural bent toward selling, and that he has done in prodigious quantities.

In the waning moments of the horse and buggy days when unconventional was more to be cultivated than criticized, Faloon cut quite a figure as he traveled from farm to farm selling Watkins products dispensed from his team-drawn wagon. These were the days when relief from pain was just a liniment bottle away, salve was the balm of blessedness, and imitation vanilla extract steaming from hot cookies lent redolence to country kitchens.

BY 1912 "PAT" bought himself a car, and liniments, salves, flavorings, and other products were his stock-in-trade from 1911 and for 27 years thereafter.

Then he switched from selling common household products to washing machines. You can't help notice the pride the salesman feels to announce he was "the first to sell Maytag washers in the country." These were times when washing, done by hand, carved a full day from a week, a good eight hours down the drain. Many's the time Faloon would do a week's washing for a harried housewife, to show how she could cut her laundry chore to perhaps an hour. You've never seen more scrubbing boards piled onto the junk heaps after that. Mechanical washing was "in."

One breed of country folk—the dairymen—came to know Faloon extremely well in the mid-1930's when he deserted the washing machine business for a marvelous gadget that took the place of the milkmaid. This was the mechanical milking machine which caught on like wildfire when the news got around.

Even while he was selling washing machines, the sharp-eyed, sharp-witted Faloon had sensed the trend in the dairy business for labor-saving machines, especially milkers. This forethought led him into a lucrative business—and he has never left it.

IN A SHOP adjoining his home across the street from village hall—a shop which used to house the old Martin Carriage & Buggy factory—Faloon operates a business which hinges heavily upon sale and repair of milking machines but, as one resident puts it, "he sells everything from 'soup to nuts'."

For miles around, even as far as Canton or Steubenville, dairy farmers send or bring in milking machine pulsators which Faloon is an expert at repairing.

With a natural mechanical bent, Faloon has "invented" several items, including his own make of electric livestock fence controls with a "cosmic transformer to prevent fire," and a quaintly styled portable seat which when folded becomes a jim-dandy cane. "I can watch the race horses at the fairs without paying the price of a grandstand seat," Faloon sagely philosophizes.

FALOON'S CONVIVIALITY and easy ability to mingle with utmost strangers have stood him in good stead when he has traipsed off alone to see the sights in many parts of the United States or in foreign lands. As prodigious a traveler as he is a talker, "Pat" has penetrated into many nooks and crannies of the globe. Usually he travels by train, or on water, by ship. His most recent junket was to New York City on the Erie Railroad with a group of other district people on a planned tour of Broadway and its environs.

Everywhere he goes, he talks and talks and talks. "Most people are afraid to talk to strangers. I'm not. Most folks want someone to talk to... so I talk," he says, with a merry twinkle.

2 MEN BOUND OVER

LISBON — Two Salineville area men were bound over to the January Grand Jury Friday by County Judge James L. MacDonald for auto theft.

Kenneth R. Kirker, 20, and Charles Anderson, 34, both of Salineville RD 3, are charged with the theft of a car owned by George Ward Sr., of Sebring late Wednesday evening from its parking place outside of Miner's Tavern in Kensington.

Bond of $1,000 was set for each. Both are confined to the county jail in lieu of bond.

LICENSE IS SUSPENDED

LISBON — Traffic court hearings at the Courthouse have resulted in the suspension of the driving permit of one motorist and a warning of another.

Terry Lee Shields, 16, East Liverpool RD 2, received a 15-day suspension for failing to stop within the assured clear distance.

Charles H. Anthony, 17, Leavittsburg, was warned for passing at the crest of a hill. Both were cited by the State Highway Patrol.

Farm News

Livestock Feed Program

Plans are under way to begin the emergency livestock feed program in Columbiana County, according to L. Earl Lora, office manager of the Columbiana County Agricultural, Stabilization and Conservation office in Lisbon.

Lora said his office is ready to accept applications for corn under the emergency livestock feed program. Applicants should be prepared to give an inventory of the number of cattle, the amount of feed grain, silage and hay they have on hand.

From this information the amount of corn that may be approved, will be computed for a 90-day period.

This is the same program that was in effect in Columbiana County last year when approximately 100 applicants received a total of 34,000 bushels of corn, Lora said.

LEAVES BOND IN LISBON

LISBON — David H. Hamilton, 21, of Cambridge, forfeited a $10 bond in Mayor Dean Stockman's court when he failed to appear for a hearing on a charge of speeding. He was cited by village police.
